Andrew H. Green Killed on His Doorstep for Fancied Wrong.

SLAYER SURRENDERS

"Father of Greater New York" Falls Victim of Colored Maniac's Deadly Aim.

WAS TILDEN'S LAW PARTNER

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 13.—Andrew H. Green, publicist, "Father of Greater New York," Tilden's partner and staunch ally in the fight against Tweed, one of the best known and most highly respected public men in the city, was shot to death today on his own doorstep by Cornelius M. Williams, a negro, who says he came from Virginia.

The negro met the aged lawyer as he was entering his home and shot him twice through the head, killing him instantly. His motive, according to his own story, a maniacal motive according to the police, was that Mr. Green had defeated him in bringing a suit for libel against a negro woman and had had him ejected from a house in which he formerly lived.

The shooting followed some parley between the philanthropist and the crazed negro and an attempt on Mr. Green's part to get the negro to go away. As Williams pulled the revolver and began shoting Mr. Green half turned as if to seek the protection of the house. Then, as he was hit mortally, he pitched forward in his areaway, where he was found lying in a pool of blood. Williams looked at the fallen man, shook his fist at the body and cursed it, and then stood with supreme composure to await arrest.

Murderer Remains Calm.

By the time the police arrived there had gathered a crowd of some hundreds of people in front of Mr. Green's house, 91 Park avenue, who demanded the lynching of the negro assassin. Williams, his nonchalance unruffled, was hustled through the crowds to the East Thirty-fifth street police station, where he was held for the better part of an hour under examination. Then, with an escort of policemen, he was taken in a patrol wagon to police headquarters, where his picture and pedigree were taken.

From there later he was taken to the coroner's office in the criminal courts building, where he was held on the affidavit of Policeman Houghtaling of the East Thirty-fifth street station without bail on the charge of murder by Coroner Jackson. Then, surrounded by a cordon of 16 patrolmen, he was taken from the Franklin street side of the criminal courts building to the front entrance of the Tombs prison and there put in a cell under guard. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

At the station house, at police headquarters, and again in the coroner's office, the negro prisoner admitted and declared that he had shot Mr. Green. He declares that he was entirely justified in shooting him, and seemed to rather enjoy the situation, in which he found himself.

Flags Lowered to Half Mast.

When Williams was taken prisoner, but before he was taken away from the Green home, and while the angry crowd was gathering, one of Mr. Green's nieces, with whom he lived, rushed from the basement door and knelt beside the dead body of the old man, taking his head in her lap. Later the body was taken into the house and the preliminary arrangements for the funeral made. All of Mr. Green's immediate women relatives, who lived in the house, were prostrated by the tragedy.

Following the dissemination of the sad news of the murder of Mr. Green, the flags on the city hall and on other public buildings, including the public schools, were lowered in respect to his memory. Mayor Low, other officials and many prominent men of the city joined in expressing their grief aroused by the tragedy. Tonight many people, in carriages and on foot, friends and acquaintances of the dead man, went to the house to pay their respects and to offer their condolences.

Mr. Green was going to his home from his office, where he had been during the morning, when he met the negro, Williams, at or near the entrance to his home.

Statement of the Negro.

Just what words were exchanged the police have been unable to learn, except from the negro's own story. The statement of Williams, in which he repeated the conversation, was as follows:

"I said to Mr. Green: 'Why do you take it upon yourself to circulate this scandal about me?'

"'What scandal?' said Mr. Green.

"'You know what scandal. You met me in West Fifty-third street and wanted to know why I was living in a negro lodging house.'

"'I don't know anything about it' said Mr. Green. 'Go away from me.'

"'You do know about it, and you will have to die for it.' With that I opened fire."

Five shots were fired, two of them taking effect in Mr. Green's head. Either would have been fatal, both bullets entering the left side, just back of the temple, and coming out of the forehead. Evidently the negro's aged victim was turning aside in an effort to escape when the shots were fired. Mr. Green fell forward on his face across his threshold, and Williams cried as he tood over him:

"He deserved it, d——n him. He forced me to do it."

Inspector McClusky this afternoon declared that the negro's mind was filled with hallucinations that he had been slandered by Mr. Green. That there is not the slightest foundation for his insane belief is unquestioned.

Marroquin Assures Ecuador That Panama Will Be Whipped Without Trouble.

HAVE 100,000 MEN IN RESERVE

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Nov. 13.—Gen. Plaza, president of Ecuador, has cabled to President Marroquin of Colombia, sympathizing with him in the recent events on the isthmus of Panama. President Marroquin has replied, thanking Gen. Plaza and adding that Gens. Reyes, Caballeros, Oshina and Holguin are marching on Panama with a large army to subdue the isthmians.

Panama, Nov. 13.—Cable service with Bogota, the capital of Colombia, has been re-established and the following is the first important dispatch since the rebellion sent from the Colombian capital. Your correspondent cables under date of November 10:

"Acting President Jorga Holguin told me today that Colombia would never recognize the independence of Panama.

"'My government will exhaust its last drop of blood and its last cent in putting down the rebellion,' he said. 'I wish to make the announcement to the world that we will not submit to isthmian independence.'

"Gen. Rafael Reyes has been appointed generalissimo-in-chief of Colombia's fighting forces and all here are confident that he will force the United States to comply with the treaty obligation of 1846 maintaining the sovereignty of Colombia on isthmian soil. Gen. Reyes left today for the coast with a large and well equipped army. He announced that he had left behind a force of 100,000 men ready for any emergency.

People Are Furious.

"All departments and parties have promised unconditional support and financial aid to the government. The people are furious over the revolution. A high official of the government said today that Colombia rejected with profound indignation the independence movement of the isthmians.

"'The rebellion,' he added, 'is merely supported by the treasonable act of certain military officials, and with the only object of satisfying the avariciousness of certain individuals and foreign companies having interests connected with the canal company.'

"Bogota continues in a state of siege but the United States legation is well protected. Later I hope to be able to transmit an extremely important cable communication from President Marroquin to President Roosevelt. President Marroquin has also communicated with the various Spanish-American presidents.

"It's stated here that it is known on good authority that the isthmian movement is not unanimous. The government asserts that it has assurances from the interior provinces of Panama that they are not in sympathy with the rebellion and can be relied upon to assist in putting it down.

Isthmus Will Repent.

"The Colombian government and the people are satisfied that Colombian patriotic sentiments will prevail and before long the isthmus will realize the error of its course and will return to the mother country before Colombian blood shall flow in torrents. From reports received here the government is counting upon the sincere sympathy of all the South and Central American republics.

COLON, Nov. 13.—Cutters from the American warships here were despatched this morning to stop the German steamer Markomannia, which was seen two miles off towing a launch towards the harbor. It was thought that the Markomannia was coming from a Colombian port, but it appears that she had been chartered at Bocas del Toro to bring the alcalde of that port to Colon.

TWO ITALIANS SHOT IN A STREET BRAWL

Denato Lauletto and Antonio Asquino Received Serious Wounds.

Donato Lauletto, 45 years old, of No. 1057 Wheeler street, lies in a dangerous condition at his home with three bullet wounds in his face, and Antonio Asquino of No. 37 Bell street has a bullet wound in his left leg, as a result of a brawl between seven Italians in Wheeler street, Brushton, about 8 o'clock last night. George Rosi, Frank Shivino, Angelo Gregosk and Victor Batist are locked up in the East End police station, charged with being implicated in the shooting. The trouble is alleged to have been started by Frank and Andy Shivino, brothers, who live with the other Italians in Baxter street. Andy escaped.

The Shivino brothers and their five companions, after drinking in a Baxter street saloon, started down Wheeler street, evidently in quest of trouble. A large crowd gathered in front of Lauletto's house, and he asked them to move along as his wife was very ill. He is said to be wealthy. According to Lauletto's story he was dragged from his doorstep by one of the crowd, and the Shivino brothers shot at him while he was held by the neck. One of the bullets inflicted a scalp wound over the left temple, another entered his left cheek, and a third tore away the flesh from the left cheek, barely missing the left eye.

CITIZENS WILL DEMAND MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—As a result of the street car strike, the largest delegation of citizens that ever visited the city hall at one time, will demand that the council committee on local transportation make no agreement with the traction companies that does not provide for municipal ownership. The Federation of Labor, which represents the 225,000 members here will send thousands of delegates. Hundreds of the 3,000 striking street car employes will be in the delegation.

ORDER IS NOW RESCINDED SUSPENDING THE WORK ON PENNSY IMPROVEMENTS

Contracts for New Low Grade Freight Division and Main Line to Be Pushed to Completion.

ORDER AFFECTS THE STOCK VALUE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 13.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just issued orders which will result in a resumption of work on contracts for a part of the improvements and new lines which was stopped about four weks ago. This action, when it shall become generally known, is likely to have an important effect upon sentiment in financial and industrial circles which has been severely depressed by recent developments.

There has been thus far no public announcement of the fact that Pennsylvania construction work to which the management applied the brakes last month is to go ahead, but the necessary instructions are understood to have been issued to those directly concerned.

The word for resumption of work has followed so closely the orders for its suspension that there has practically been no interruption of operations under the contracts. When the orders went forth to stop work it was supposed that it would not be resumed until next spring. The reason for immediate resumption is not known.

The work affected by the orders for a shut-down involved chiefly the new low grade freight line in process of construction between Atglen and the Susquehanna river, and the improvements on the main line. At the time the suspension was ordered, W. H. Brown, chief engineer of the road, said:

"The biggest contracts ordered stopped until spring are under way between Paoli and Thorndale on the new low grade division between Columbia and Parkersburg and on the middle division at Newport. These contracts call for an expenditure of about $3,000,000."

The report that improvement work was to be resumed had a good effect on Pennsylvania railroad stock. While the sales were large, prices were better than at any time during the bear raids of Wednesday and yesterday. Opening at 55¾, Pennsylvania sold up to 56 15-16 before noon. More than 2,000 shares were dealt in in Philadelphia by 12 o'clock.

CONNELL WILL AGAIN RUN FOR CONGRESS

Republican Contesting Tenth District Election to Be Candidate Next Year.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The Press will print tomorrow the following from its Washington correspondant:

Former Representative William Connell, of Scranton who is contesting the seat of George Howell, Democrat, has received a number of letters from his friends in the house inquiring whether or not he will be a candidate for election to the next congress. In reply, Mr. Connell has sent a letter to a close personal friend, in which he says:

"It is my firm intention to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Tenth Pennsylvania district next year. I believe that an appeal to the voters of Lackawanna county is due both Mr. Howell and myself, and that it is only right that the people of our district should be given an opportunity to say whether or not the contest which I am making for what I believe to be my rights, is just."

Real Estate Dealer Charged With Land Swindle at Columbus, Ohio.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(September.)—J. A. Worden, one of eight prominent Ohio real estate dealers under indictment in Columbus, O., in connection with an extensive land swindle, was arrested this afternoon by Central station detectives.

Worden was found in a flat in No. 1233 Wabash avenue and when the four detectives entered his room he was indignant. Later he admitted his identity and was taken to Central station.

All of the men under indictment with Worden are prominent, and the disclosures which occurred while the case was in progress caused a sensation. Many wealthy citizens of Columbus were victims of the alleged swindle. Fred R. Parsons of Columbus is said to have lost $16,000 as the result of entering the scheme to buy land in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

COMBINATION OF WINDOW GLASS MANUFACTURERS

Plans Completed at Meeting in Columbus—Burns and Phillips Called In.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13.—Manufacturers of window glass, representing 3,398 pots out of a possible 3,900, met today and completed plans for organizing the Manufacturers Window Glass Company, which will control the output of practically all the window glass factories in the United States. The company will be capitalized at $1,500,000. For the present it will be conducted as a selling agency, but the plans provide for taking over all the window glass factories later should it be deemed expedient.

The meeting was presided over by President J. R. Johnston of Hartford City, Ind., representing the Federation Window Glass Company. One of the important features of the Manufacturers Window Glass Company is that it will have control of not only the hand made product of the American Window Glass Company, but will also control the product of all their factories in which the blowing machine is operated.

A committee was appointed to secure a New Jersey charter and to adopt by-laws and form a selling agreement. President Simon Burns, L. A. 300, and President John Phillips, Jr., of the Window Glass Workers' Association of America, were called into the meeting and pledged themselves and their organizations to enforce the scale in all factories.

PITTSBURGH DETECTIVES ARE DELAYED BY RED TAPE IN LONDON POLICE COURT

Case of Croatians Accused of Murdering Contractor Ferguson Postponed for One Week by Magistrate Fenwick.

M'QUAIDE AND KELLY MUST WAIT

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Nov. 13.—Michael Tepanac and Nicholas Kobour, the Croatians, accused of the murder of Contractor Samuel T. Ferguson of Pittsburgh at West Middletown, Pa., by the explosion of a dynamite mine under him, were arraigned in the Bow street police court today. They were not represented by counsel.

On the request of the embassy the prisoners, who were arrested on board the American line steamer Philadelphia on her arrival at Southampton on October 21, were remanded for one week. Magistrate Fenwick postponed the case for that length of time to allow the sending of the extradition papers with which Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide and Richard Kelly, who arrived yesterday, are provided to the foreign office and home secretary.

The prisoners are ugly-looking and appear indifferent to their fate. They are roughly dressed. Both still pretend to be unable to speak or understand English.

If the extradition papers are honored, as now seems probable, no objection thereto having yet been entered by the Austro-Hungarian embassy, Detectives McQuaide and Kelly will not be allowed to take charge of the Croatians in England, but an English officer will accompany them to Queenstown, where British authority ends. There the Pittsburgh officers can take full charge of the prisoners.

The embassy did not know of the arrival of the Pittsburgh officers until informed by The Gazette correspondent.

CANAL MUST BE DUG

Revolt on Isthmus Made It Necessary to Rewrite Message to Regular Session of Congress.

SPOONER ACT IS INTERPRETED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Nov. 13.—For several weeks President Roosevelt has had in preparation his annual message to the congress to be presented at the opening of the regular session on the first Monday of December. That part of the message in which the president discusses the negotiations between the United States and the government of Colombia regarding the canal was completed about two weeks ago. Events which have occurred on the isthmus and in this country since that time have made it necessary for the president completely to rewrite that part of the message.

In the opening sentence of his discussion of the negotiations with Colombia the president said: "I regret to report that contrary to all expectations the government of Colombia refused to ratify the treaty for building a canal across the isthmus of Panama."

Then after stating that the treaty had been negotiated at the earnest request of the government of Colombia and subsequently was disapproved by the Colombian senate, the president said that the powers exercised by the United States under the treaty of 1846 were so large in the protection of transit across the isthmus that it sometimes had been questioned whether it was necessary now to obtain a treaty for the purpose of building a canal. Continuing, he wrote:

Desires to Act Fairly.

"High authorities on international law hold that the canal can be dug as an incident to exercising the power to prevent the obstruction of traffic across the isthmus. Nevertheless, in accordance with our settled policy of behaving with scrupulous fairness and generosity toward our weaker sister republics of the south, taking no position that can even by implication be treated as unfriendly, unless literally forced thereto, we have endeavored to provide for the building of the canal by treaty. In this treaty we went as far as it is possible for us to go in the direction of making concessions to the United States of Colombia. No further concessions can or should be made by this government."

The president then said that the complications in the canal case were peculiar. He said the canal had to be dug; that the United States and the people needed it, and it should be free to the commerce of the world, reserving the right to ourselves "to see that it shall never be used to our military disadvantage."

"A private company which in the past undertook to build the canal has failed. The events of the last few years warrant us in now saying that the canal should not be constructed by any foreign government or by any private company. It must, therefore, be constructed by the United States."

Time for Trifling Ended.

Referring to the territory bisected by the canal, the president wrote: "On the one hand the United States desires to safeguard with scrupulous care the interest and the honor of such country or countries. On the other hand, in my judgment, it is time to declare that the beginning of the canal can not be much longer delayed. This nation does not desire to be unreasonable or impatient; but it can not and will not permit any body of men permanently to obstruct one of the great world highways of traffic; and refusal to permit the building of the canal amounts to such obstruction. Of course, to insist upon unreasonable terms is equivalent to a refusal."

Adverting to that phrase of the Spooner law which says that the president shall have reasonable time to determine as between the Panama and Nicaraguan routes, the president wrote:

"Reasonable time in the case of such an enterprise as this, an enterprise which has been thought of for nearly four centuries, which has been planned in detail and worked at for half a century, and which, when completed, will endure for ages and will change the geography of a hemisphere and the trade routes of the world, must, of course, mean whatever time is necessary to convince ourselves that the course we are following is wise and proper.

"It seems evident that in a matter such as this we should finally decide which is the best route; and if the advantages of this route over any other possible route are sufficiently marked, we should then give notice that we can no longer submit to trifling or insincere dealing on the part of those whom the accident of position has placed in temporary control of the ground through which the route must pass; that if they will come to agreement with us in straightforward fashion we shall in return act not only with justice, but with generosity; and that if they fail to come to such agreement with us, we must forthwith take the matter into our own hands."

SHARP COMPETITION FOR 30,000-TON RAIL ORDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The contract for the 30,000 tons of steel rails wanted by the Canadian Pacific for 1904 delivery has not yet been let. It is being vigorously competed for by the United States Steel Corporation, and rail-makers abroad. It is understood that if the contract is to come to the Steel Corporation it will have to shade the price to $22 per ton or lower to equal foreign bids. At $22 per ton the contract is worth in gross business to the Steel Corporation $660,000 and would net it at least $200,000.

RUSSIA READY IF WAR COMES

Czar Has Complete Understanding With France and Germany.

HIS TRIP A SUCCESS

United States After Open Port in Korea Won by Chinese Treaty.

RUSSIAN TROOPS IN FIGHT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—There is much satisfaction here over the result of the czar's visit abroad. It is believed that a complete understanding was reached with Germany and France regarding the near and far east, making for peace and rendering Russia's rear secure in the event of future hostilities with Japan. While the danger of hostilities is considered over for the present, despite the warlike tone of the eastern dispatches, it is realized that the setlement is merely patchwork. A high official said:

"Russia wants peace, but she is ready for war. Japan finding us prepared, fears the test."

Foreign Minister Lamsdorff has profited by the happy consequences of the czar's trip. The minister's position was considered to be insecure when he went abroad and his resignation would not have been unexpected. The fact that Admiral Alexieff, the viceroy of the far east, was exercising an independent course in Manchuria without regard for the foreign office, was embarrassing to Count Lamsdorff, who, besides, was opposed by M. Besabrateff, who is a member of the committee of the orient and recently in high favor with the czar.

What the czar heard abroad coincided with Count Lamsdorff's counsels. It is positively known that the czar telegraphed to Admiral Alexieff that there must be no war. It is, however, problematical as to what may happen when the czar returns and M. Besabraleff gets his majesty's ear.

Lamsdorff Regains Favor.

Count Lamsdorff, Gen. Kuropatkin, the war minister and M. Witte, president of the council of ministers, are closely allied. Hence the complete rehabilitation of Count Lamsdorff may mean that their party will not advocate the relinquishment of Manchuria because of its being a vested interest of Russia, and as the present attitude of China renders its relinquishment impossible.

But they may favor a moderate, peaceful course, including the recognition of China's treaty obligations. If the province eventually is absorbed politically the real struggle of Manchurian policy promises to come at the meeting of the committee of the extreme orient, early in December, when Admiral Alexieff will personally present his views.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—It is learned here that the United States government is seeking to have the port of Wiju, Korea, opened, while Great Britain and Japan have combined in favor of opening the port of Yongampho. This government has made considerable progress in the matter and it is now stated that United States Minister Allen, who has been stopping at Yokohama, is about to proceed from that port to Chemulpo, Korea, on an American warship in pursuit of this mission.

Goes on Warship.

The purpose is to honor the Koreans by the presence of an American vessel of modern type, and it is stated that there is absolutely no intention to use pressure of any kind. The original request of Korea was made by the United States charge, and now Mr. Allen is going to reinforce it. Wiju lies directly opposite the port of Antung, which is to be opened to trade by China under our new treaty, and is an important post on the great road running from Peking to the Korean capital.

United States naval officers recently have inspected the place and pronounced in its favor as against Yongampho, and it also is pointed out that the possession of a considerable possession at Yongampho by Russia might involve international complications in the presentment of claim for a port there.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 13.—It is reported here that Russian troops, marching toward Shan Hai Kwan, encountered a force of imperial Chinese troops and that fighting ensued, the Russians, it is asserted, pretending that the imperial force was a band of Chinese robbers. Altogether over 10,000 imperial troops have crossed the frontier into Manchuria.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, called on the Austrian and Russian embassadors yesterday and notified them that the porte's reply to the latest note of the two powers on the subject of reforms in Macedonia would speedily be presented and that it would be satisfactory. This is in accordance with the views of the grand vizier, who opposed the previous rejection of the reform scheme and, consequently, was threatened with the deprivation of his office.

PROBING A RUMOR.

Attempt Being Made to Discover If the Farris Jury Was "Fixed."

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Nov. 13.—The Cole county grand jury today began an investigation into rumors that the jury in the bribery case of Senator Farris, which failed to agree on a verdict, had been "fixed." Foreman John N. Ross and Jurors Everett Ward and Benjamin Prenger were called before the grand jury today and subpoenas were issued for other jurors to appear tomorrow.

E. B. Baldwin, the arctic explorer, who came to testify regarding his knowledge of alleged alum legislation bribery was a witness this afternoon.

GOVERNMENT TOOK NO PART IN REVOLUTION ON ISTHMUS

President Will Strongly Deny Such Action When Communicating With Congress.

WAS EXPECTED BY EVERYBODY

President Roosevelt Frequently Seeks the Advice of Party Leaders on Important Questions Now Pending—Panama Minister Received.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.

Little else was considered at today's cabinet meeting besides the Panama matter. The president announced to his official family the reception of the new minister from Panama, M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla. A synopsis of the correspondence relating to the Panama canal and the revolution, which was asked for by resolution of congress, was laid before the cabinet previous to sending it to congress, if it should be decided to do so. It was the president's desire to have them informed in advance and be familiar with all of the points. This is in anticipation of an attack from the Democrats.

There is only one point upon which the administration will enter a firm denial and that is the accusation that there was any connivance by the United States to bring about the revolution in Panama. It is no secret that the government was aware of the revolutionary movement, as was the government of Colombia and everybody else who was watching the situation, but it is emphatically denied that any encouragement was given the revolutionists.

Consulting the Leaders.

Frequent conferences are held by the president with senate and house leaders as to the Panama revolution and the canal question. He finds that the best plan is to have those he desires to consult to dinner with him, or to call in the evening, when there is no interruption. Last night there were at dinner with the president Secretaries Hay and Wilson and Senators Hale, Hanna, Fairbanks, Platt of Connecticut, Spooner and Allison. The conference lasted until midnight, and the prospective program of the government on the canal question from now on was the most important subject under consideration. With the formal recognition of the new republic come a dozen other questions that must be solved before a canal can be built, and it is the approach to these questions that the president is considering, asking and obtaining the views of the leaders.

Quay Consults Territorial Delegates.

Senator Quay today held a conference with Delegate Rodey of New Mexico and Delegate Wilson of Arizona regarding statehood. It is not yet known what plan will be adopted for fighting the statehood battle in this congress, but from present indications each of the territories will try for admission on its own responsibility. If any of the statehood bills get through the house, Senator Quay will no doubt give them his support when they reach the senate, but there is not much probability of an omnibus bill, such as was considered last congress, in which Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona pooled their interests.

Senators Wear Paper Collars.

"Yes," said an employe of the senate, "it's true. At least half a dozen United States senators wear paper collars and cuffs.

"How do I know? I have seen them making a quick change in the cloak room and I have found the castoff collars and cuffs in the waste baskets. It is not a matter of economy with them. It's just the force of habit. A number of senators are away up in years and they have been wearing paper collars since the war and do not propose to start wearing any other kind. This is the reason they don't use celluloid: It is a new-fangled idea and senators refuse to experiment. At least one senator wears a dicky. You know what a dicky is—one of the fake shirt fronts. The way I got on to it, I saw him rush into the cloak room one hot day during last congress, unbutton his vest, grab a fan and lie down on a leather sofa to cool off. He dozed a little and the dicky came loose. Some of the other senators had a lot of fun with him, but he said he had been wearing them since before the war and he reckoned he would keep on."

Gen. Dick's Suffrage Resolution.

Gen. Charles Dick of Ohio has reintroduced in the house his resolution providing for a congressional investigation into the denial of the right of suffrage as practiced by several of the states. Two other resolutions bearing on the same subject were introduced in the Fifty-seventh congress, one by Mr. Moody of Massachusetts to unseat the entire Louisiana delegation because of wholesale disfranchisement of American citizens, and one by Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana to reduce the representation in congress and the electoral college of certain southern states which disfranchised citizens on account of color.

Gen. Dick's resolution calls for an investigation to examine conditions in all the states, to determine what, if any, proportion of the number of male citizens 21 years of age in any state to whom said state denies or abridges the right to vote aforesaid, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, bears to the total number of male inhabitants of such state, being 21 years old and citizens of the United States. If such a condition exists the basis of representation in congress and the electoral college shall be reduced proportionately, according to the terms of the fourteenth amendment and the revised statutes of the United States. The Republican house caucus considered these three resolutions and adopted Gen. Dick's proposition.

Prince Cupid a Clever Fellow.

Prince Cupid, the delegate to congress from Hawaii, is well liked here. He is a man of good education and refined manners and he steps up to the Ebbitt house bar and calls for his cocktail or highball like a true American citizen. The prince's family name is about seven syllables long and unpronounceable, so that he will be generally known in Washington as Prince Cupid. He is wealthy, and says that he intends to soon lease a house and establish himself in a home here. Former Queen Liliuokalani is expected to arrive here in a few days to prosecute her claim against congress for $400,000 indemnity for crown lands seized by the government. This item appeared in the sundry civil bill in last congress, and it looked for a time as if she might get the money, but it was cut out while the bill was in conference and Queen Lil soon after the adjournment started back to Honolulu. Prince Cupid will likely take charge of her claim in this congress.

Democrats Like Roosevelt.

Senator Stone of Missouri, whom the politicians dub "Gum Shoe Bill," was a caller at the White House today. He is suspected of being the originator of the boom for Senator Cockrell for the Democratic nomination for president, but it is needless to say that he did not call today to discuss this with the president. It is noticeable that the Democratic senators are frequent callers at the White House, evidently feeling no hesitancy in coming to President Roosevelt on matters of public business or for a social chat. Even Senator Morgan of Alabama, who has fought the president at every turn on the Panama canal proposition, is personally friendly with him. The one exception among the senators is Tillman of South Carolina. As the result of an incident at the time that Prince Henry came to this country, Mr. Tillman is bitter against the president, and he has never been to the White House since and probably never will call again.

Strawberries and the Tariff.

Representative Thomas of North Carolina wants to lead an invasion of the Canadian markets by the American strawberry. He introduced a bill today authorizing the president to negotiate a reciprocal treaty with England by which the Canadian duty of two cents a pound on strawberries and other berries will be reduced or abolished. This duty of two cents is computed on the crate as well as the berries, and Mr. Thomas says it is a prohibitive tariff. He claims that Canada cannot raise strawberries fit for shortcake, and if the tariff is reduced it will not only open up a good market for American gardeners, but will prove a source of revenue for Canada.

Holding Court in West Virginia.

Representative Dayton of West Virginia introduced a bill today providing for the holding of court in the northern district of West Virginia on the second Tuesday in May and the first Tuesday in November in Martinsburg.

For Benefit of Rural Carriers.

Two bills were introduced by Representative Bates of Meadville for the benefit of free rural mail carriers. One is to give them an annual leave of 15 days with pay, and the other is to give them an allowance of $200 a year for subsistence.

Another Dam for the Ohio.

Representative Morgan of Ohio put in a bill appropriating $100,000 for a lock and dam in the Ohio river below Gallipolis, to be known as dam No. 26, and authorizing that work on it be contracted for to not exceed $850,000.

Veterans Call on Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt today received about a score of the survivors of the Seventy-fifth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, who are on their way home from the battlefield of Missionary Ridge, where they dedicated a regimental monument. The president extended a cordial greeting to the veterans from the Keystone State.

Penrose Invites the President.

Senator Penrose today invited the president to attend a banquet of the Fellowship club in Philadelphia on the evening of Thanksgiving day, November 26. The president expressed regret that he would be unable to attend. He will not witness the football game on Franklin field this year between the Army and the Navy. The game will be played on the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Col. Quay's Pension Bill.

Senator Quay has introduced a service pension bill by which all men who served in the civil war for not less than 90 days are to receive pensions. It applies to all who are not now receiving pensions and to those who are getting less than $12 per month. Veterans from 50 to 55 years of age are to receive $6 per month; 55 to 60 years, $8 per month, and over 60 years of age, $12 per month. All widows' pensions are to be not less than $12.

New Bank Authorized.

The comptroller of the currency approved today application to organize the First National bank of Millsboro, Pa., capital $25,000. Osman McCarty, Millsboro; James Emory, Samuel H. Huston, T. I. Barnard, George L. Hill and J. W. Emery are the directors.

Reserve Agents Approved.

The following Pittsburgh national banks were appointed as reserve agents for other Pennsylvania national banks: The Iron City National for the First National of Bridgeville, in place of the Second National, revoked; the Farmers Deposit National for the Coraopolis National of Coraopolis.

New Bills in the House.

These bills were introduced in the house today: Mr. Rixey, Virginia, extending the privileges of national soldiers' homes to veterans of the Confederacy; Mr. Smith, Illinois, reducing letter postage to 1 cent; Mr. Wiley, Alabama, providing a penalty of 10 years' imprisonment for train robbery and imprisonment for life for the crime of obstructing a passenger train; Mr. Loudenslager, New Jersey, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to reimburse governors of states for money expended by them toward the expenses of state troops mustered into the volunteer service during the war with Spain upon the certification by governors as to the accuracy of their claims; Mr. Lacey, granting grazing privileges to Homestead settlers and holders of small farms on the public domain; Mr. Shafroth, Colorado, authorizing the issuance of currency redeemable in bonds of the United States. The measure is intended to cause the conversion of United States bonds into 1 per cent bonds; Mr. Gardner, Michigan, providing for "post check notes" of the denominations of $1, $4 and $5. The bill is identical in wording to the one introduced in the last congress.

Vote on Cuban Bill Next Thursday.

Representative Dalzell of the committee on rules today introduced a resolution which was referred to the committee on rules, providing for the consideration of the Cuban bill. No provision is made as to amendments or time fixed for taking a vote. It is understood that when the resolution is reported it will fix Thursday at 4 o'clock for final vote and amendment to the bill will be denied.

Removal of Philippine Duties.

Senator Lodge has introduced a bill providing for the removal of all duties on all articles imported from the Philippines into the United States, except sugar and tobacco, and fixing the duty on those two articles at 50 per cent of the rate on sugar and tobacco shipped from foreign countries.

Clerks' Title to Be Abolished.

One of the reforms in postoffices which will be advocated by the postoffice department is authority by which all clerks below the designation of foreman shall be classed in the future simply as clerks. This will abolish the titles of stampers, mailing clerks and a variety of other subordinate places whose duties are clerical, and it will enable transfers to be made without involving the charge of employes being assigned to duties other than those to which they are technically designated.

Mail Was Consumed.

In the wreck of the Southern Pacific train near Tehama, Cal., November 1, a large amount of the mail matter destroyed by the burning of the mail car was destined from Hawaii, Philippines, China and Japan to California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Western Canadian provinces, Idaho and Montana.

Representative Tawney, the Republican whip, has notified every Republican member to be present at the session of the house on Monday.

REPORT ORDERED ON CUBAN TREATY

Ways and Means Committee Votes 14 to 2 for Affirmative Recommendation.

AMENDMENTS ARE OFFERED.

Both Presented by Democrats and Promptly Rejected—Report Sets Forth Advantages Which Will Accrue from Its Immediate Enactment Into a Law.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The house committee on ways and means today authorized a favorable report on the bill making effective the Cuban reciprocity treaty by a vote of 14 to 2. Mr. Metcalf (Rep., Cal.) was present but did not vote, and Messrs. Robertson (Dem., La.) and Cooper (Dem., Tex.) voted against the bill.

Two amendments were offered in committee, but both were rejected by the Republican vote. One offered by Mr. Cooper, extended the provisions of the treaty to all other countries. The other offered by Mr. Williams, the minority floor leader, abolished the differential duty on refined sugar.

The meeting of the committee occupied an hour and in the discussion as to the length of time required for consideration in the house it developed that a rule will likely be reported from the committee on rules Monday requiring a vote without opportunity for amendment at 4 o'clock Thursday next.

The report says, "The enactment of this bill into law is necessary to give effect to the convention providing for reciprocal trade between this country and Cuba. This results not merely because the convention itself provides that it 'shall not take effect until the same shall have been approved by the congress,' but because the constitution gives no power to the president and the senate to make a convention or treaty changing the rates of revenue. That power is expressly lodged in the congress. It is not intended here to cite authorities or advance reasons on this proposition. The records of congress abound with unrefuted arguments on the affirmative of this contention and the practice of congress has been uniformly in the same direction.

"The president has deemed the subject of sufficent importance to convene an extraordinary session of congress in order that the convention may become effective before the commencement of the harvest of the new sugar crop in December.

"This legislation will result in no harm to any American industry. Articles, the product of this country, like the articles embraced in this convention now imported from Cuba, receive the very highest protection of any in the same schedule. The duty on sugar was placed above the protective point for the purpose of revenue. The house tariff bill provided expressly for a reduction in the interests of reciprocal trade agreement, which it authorized the president to make. The duty on tobacco has for years been much higher than any necessity required on account of the competition of Cuban tobacco. The reduction in this bill leaves it amply protected."

The report closes with an argument setting forth the advantages to both this country and Cuba which will result from a reciprocal arrangement provided in the legislation.

CUBAN BILL REPORTED IN HOUSE BY PAYNE

Californian's Tale of Woe Is Interrupted by an Adjournment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The house was in session 17 minutes today, adjourning at 12:17 p. m. until Monday. Mr. Payne (N. Y.), chairman of the committee on ways and means, reported the Cuban bill and gave notice that on Monday he would call it up for consideration. By unanimous consent the minority of the ways and means was given further time in which to submit a minority report. Mr. Payne stated that the agreement with the minority was that the Cuban bill be considered until 4 p. m. Thursday, when a vote will be taken.

Immediately after the reading of the journal Mr. Livernash (Cal.) arose to a question of personal privilege. Reading from manuscript he began by saying: "Indications are that in the Panama-Colombia matter the president is invading a constitutional prerogative of the congress and it seems of high importance to the dignity and authority of this house that doubt be dispelled forthwith."

Mr. Payne rose to a point of order and insisted that the question of the privilege be stated first. The speaker suggested that a resolution would inform the house as to what question the gentleman desired to present. He finally sustained the point of order, cries of "regular order" being heard on the Republican side.

On motion of Mr. Payne the house then adjourned.

The detectives allege the women are professional pickpockets. They were seen entering the store together and then they separated. Both acted suspiciously, and when arrested each denied knowing the other. One of the women had been arrested before on a similar charge.

Changed Board's By-Laws.

The Oakland board of trade met last night in the Oakland school house. The matter of changing the by-laws of the organization occupied almost the entire evening. A committee was appointed to act with similar committees from other organizations to endeavor to bring the next national convention of the Republican party to Pittsburgh.

BOY IS SUFFERING FROM WANDERLUST

Walter Ritter.

Walter Ritter, the 13-year-old son of Charles Ritter of No. 18 Woesher street, Allegheny, has been missing from his home since August 22. Despite the efforts of the lad's father and the Allegheny police to find him, no trace of his whereabouts has been found. Young Ritter ran away four times before, and each time had to be brought back. When taken home he refuses to say why he left or to promise that he will stay at home. His father said last night that the lad is of a roving disposition, and, being bright, makes friends wherever he goes.

AIRLINE TO NEW YORK FROM HERE REPORTED

Route Projected for Rival to the Pennsylvania Railroad Is Again Described.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The proposed railroad between New York and Pittsburgh, which is to be 80 miles shorter than the Pennsylvania line, will, it is believed, but across Essex county at Caldwell, Verona and upper Mont Clair. It is said the extension of the Whippany & Passaic Valley railroad, now being built, will be merely a connecting link in a great system.

A big railroad station, at a cost of $10,000, is to be built near Caldwell. Heavy rails are being laid on the new line, and land has been bought for the right of way 100 feet in width, sufficient for a four-track route. New York capitalists are supporting the project, and the men who bought the right of way and are in the secrets of the projectors, openly assert a trunk line is to come through Caldwell.

The route from Pittsburgh is to be via Altoona, Sunbury, through Columbia and Schuylkill counties, Pennsylvania, crossing the Delaware river and entering New Jersey at Belvidere, thence via Oxford, Warren county and through Morris and Essex counties to tidewater.

The old Verona tunnel may be included in the new route. The tunneling has penetrated 500 feet on the Mont Clair side of the mountain and about 500 feet on the Verona end. About 200 feet more will have to be bored to complete the tunnel. When the tunnel is finished a bridge will have to be built across Verona lake and across Lakeside avenue.

MRS. MILLS IS OBDURATE.

Will Not Move Her House to Allow Extension of Carnegie Institute.

Mrs. E. L. Mills persists in her determination to occupy her house in Mawhinney street, needed for the Carnegie institute extension, up to the time her lease expires. An attempt by President W. N. Frew of the institute board of trustees to effect a compromise by which she should receive a consideration for removing has been entirely unsuccessful. Mrs. Mills says she is being abused by the city employes at work on the part of the site adjoining her house. She charges that a fire was built one night recently so that the wind blew sparks toward her house, and members of the family were kept busy all night preventing the roof from catching fire.

"The right is on my side," says Mrs. Mills, "and do what they will, I intend to stay here till the first of next April."

FOUR HURT IN WRECK.

Two Will Probably Die as Result of Derailing of a Train Near Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—A passenger train which left Buffalo at 11:45 for East Aurora was derailed a quarter of a mile east of the city line at midnight. Four passengers were injured, two of whom may die. The engineer is missing and it is feared that he is under the wreckage.

A man named Lockwood, whose home is in East Aurora, was brought to the Emergency hospital early this morning. He has a fractured skull. An unknown woman was brought in shortly afterward. She is unconscious and will probably die.

Entertained by Boys' Brigade.

A full house listened to the entertainment given last night by Company G of the Third Pennsylvania regiment of the United Boys' Brigade of America in its hall in Ellsworth avenue. The Third Regiment orchestra rendered four selections, and the rifle squad performed accurately in the manual of arms drill under Commandant Col. Ross. Others who took part were: Miss Alice Archer, E. J. Napier, Pierre De Backer, Miss Anna Smythe and Miss Mary Fredericks. Illustrated songs by the Company G quartet, with Philip L. Pryor, lanternist, furnished a pleasant feature.

Bedford & Hollidaysburg Opened.

General Manager W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad sent notices to the local officials yesterday announcing the opening of the Bedford & Hollidaysburg railroad, extending from its connection with the Bedford division at Cessna to the end of the track north of Imler, a distance of 11.8 miles. The line will eventually be extended to Brooks Mills on the Altoona division. In this way the company will have a short line to Bedford Springs.

CRAZY NEGRO KILLS ANDREW H. GREEN

colored man they searched him and found the revolver which was still warm. They hurried him to the station house, where he was subjected to a searching examination, the result of which left little doubt of the negro's insanity. Besides the revolver the police found in Williams' pockets a razor, a purse containing $10 and a dispossess notice dated August 6 showing that he had been put out of apartments in Fifty-seventh street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues.

Williams acted as though he felt he had performed a meritorious deed. He is a well-built man of average height and of not unpleasant features. He said he was single, 43 years old and lived at No. 156 West Twenty-sixth street, at which place however, he is not known.

The prisoner answered without hesitation or any show of irritation all questions put to him and spoke like a man firm in the conviction that he had been deeply wronged by the man he had murdered.

He told a rambling story about a colored woman, Mrs. Bessie Davis, who until about four months ago kept a lodging house for negroes in West Fifty-third street, who, he said, had circulated statements derogatory to his character, and against whom he had been trying to bring suit for $20,000 for slander. The trouble, he said, dated back to the year 1895, when he was one of her lodgers.

Hints of Love Affairs.

Her stories reached the congregation of the Mt. Olivet church, of which he was an attendant, and he was forced to give up his membership there because his fellow worshippers pointed the finger of scorn at him. Her slanders, continuing over eight years, cost him nearly all his friends.

"I would have been married now only for her," he added bitterly.

Continuing he said he had not been able to find the woman, who had been spirited away by powerful friends. He blamed Mr. Green for befriending the woman and enabling her to continue her slanderous stories. He said he had asked Mr. Green to "get after her" but he had failed to do so.

"I'm not sorry I shot him," exclaimed the prisoner; "he got what he deserved. I may not be justified by society, but I'm justified in the eyes of God. I'm willing to go to the electric chair, if necessary to vindicate my character."

"Do you believe that Mr. Green had anything to do with your being dispossessed from the Fifty-seventh street house?" he was asked.

"No, the landlord did that," was the reply.

"Did that have anything to do with the shooting?"

"Yes, that as much as anything else."

The prisoner said that he was a native of Virginia and that he supported himself by taking care of furnaces.

Lay in Wait a Week.

The prisoner was then removed to police headquarters where he was questioned by Inspector McClosky to whom he told substantially the same story he told at the station house. Inspector McClusky said he was satisfied the man was insane. From the headquarters he was taken to the coroner's office, whence he was taken to the Tombs.

Employes of the Murray Hill hotel told the police that they had seen the colored man walking up and down the street in front of Mr. Green's house every day for the past week. They had heard him muttering to himself and waving his hands about him, and decided that he was crazy.

Mr. Green, who was a bachelor, lived with his nephew, Timothy R. Green, and his three nieces, the Misses Lucy M., Julia E. and Mary R. Green. Two of the nieces were home when the shooting occurred.

Timothy R. Green said tonight that his uncle had never before seen the man who shot him, that he had never heard of the colored woman, Bessie Davis, and that he had never had any colored servants in his house. The story told by Williams was, said Mr. Green, pure fiction.

No trace of the Davis woman could be found in West Fifty-third street mentioned by Williams, nor was the man known at a house in West Twenty-third street, in which he said he lived. The police are inclined to believe that the Davis woman was only insane imagination. One time, Williams claimed, he had often spoken to Mr. Green and the next that he had never seen him until the shooting. Mr. Green's most intimate friends are satisfied he never saw the negro until he was confronted by him at his door.

Dr. Fisher, for whom Williams had worked as a furnace tender for five years, said tonight that he had never shown any evidence of insanity, nor had he ever heard him mention Mr. Green's name.

TERMINALS WILL TAKE PRECEDENCE

Wabash Officials at New Orleans Talk of Plans of Gould Railways.

$22,000,000 FOR ONE LINE

Road from Pittsburgh to Toledo Will Be One of the Most Expensive and Perfect in the World—Trains from New Orleans to This City.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Officials of the Wabash railroad who spent the day here announced that by April the Wabash would have its tracks running into Pittsburgh and very soon after that time would have terminals in Philadelphia and Baltimore.

George Gould recently announced the expenditure of $50,000,000 in the Mississippi valley completing his through west bank line to New Orleans. This work is now nearly completed and when opened through trains will be operated between New Orleans, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

C. S. Crane, general passenger agent of the Wabash at St. Louis, heads the party of officials here furthering their plans. With him is Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburgh; W. D. Wood, St. Louis; B. F. Kelly, Buffalo; Edward Swift, Cincinnati; R. S. Greenwood, Thomas Follan, F. W. Grey, W. F. Connor, James Gass, M. C. Kerran and Jacob Halderman, all passenger officials of the Wabash.

Mr. Tristram of Pittsburgh told of the eastern projects of the Wabash and says the Gould policy will be, instead of confining its entire efforts to building lines in the east, the plans to get into Pittsburgh and Philadelphia will be pushed to completion. The scheme contemplates a hot competition with the Pennsylvania for business.

"The Wabash has settled upon the policy of having through trains from St. Louis to the Atlantic seaboard with terminals at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore," was the statement. "In April our line will go direct into Pittsburgh," said Mr. Tristram, "and a station is being built there which will cost fully $1,100,000. The road itself will be two tracks from Toledo to Pittsburgh and will cost $22,000,000, and will be one of the most expensive and perfect roads in the world."

MAN AND WIFE ARRESTED.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith Are Charged With Robbing Their Landlady.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith, who live in the apartment house of Mrs. Mary Block, No. 192 Forty-fifth street, were arrested yesterday charged with theft. Mrs. Bloch notified the police that she had been continually missing articles from her house and that yesterday a savings bank containing $8 had been stolen.

Capt. Peter Welsh searched the house. In the rooms of Mr. and Mrs. Smith he found two silk skirts, several mufflers and napkins, the missing bank, minus its contents, two rings and a lot of wearing apparel, all of which was identified by Mrs. Bloch as her property.

Welsh arrested Mrs. Smith and took her to No. 5 police station, where she is said to have confessed and implicated her husband.

Smith was not at home yesterday morning and did not return all day. A policeman was on guard at the house. About 8 o'clock last evening he rang up the house by telephone, and thinking he was conversing with his wife, told her he would not be home, that he was spending the evening at a hotel in Penn avenue, near Twenty-eighth street. Policemen went to the place and arrested Smith. A small but valuable diamond necklace, wrapped in a newspaper, was found on him. The couple had been living with Mrs. Bloch for some time.

OPEN IN A FEW DAYS.

First National Bank of Allegheny Awaits Only Closing of New Deal.

The exclusive announcement in The Gazette of yesterday that the First National bank of Allegheny is to be reopened with new interests controlling a majority of its stock awakened much interest here. The statements were verified yesterday by several of those interested who are not willing, however, that their identity shall be disclosed until the whole plan has been formally completed.

Col. Hugh Young, the national bank examiner who investigated the condition of the institution for the new interests, said yesterday:

"Of course, my connection with the examination is entirely confidential and I am not at liberty to mention any names. You may say that I did make an examination and my report was such that the gentlemen interested decided to go ahead. The bank will not open for some days, though, as there are certain preliminaries to be arranged. Opening a bank is not like opening a grocery store and many things have to be done. It is not necessary that the bank be opened by the present officers or board of directors. New directors and officers might be selected before the bank opened, but that is a trivial matter."

B. & O. OFFICIALS RESIGN.

Superintendent Husted of Cumberland Division Retires.

It was rumored yesterday that A. W. Thompson, now engineer of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, with headquarters in this city, would succeed Frederick A. Husted, who has suddenly resigned as superintendent of the Cumberland division of the same road. Mr. Thompson could not be seen. W. C. Loree, general superintendent, knew nothing of the report.

Husted was appointed superintendent of the Cumberland division only last April and personal reasons are said to have been responsible for his resignation. The names of U. B. Williams, superintendent of the Monongah division, and F. E. Blaser, superintendent of the Wheeling division, are also mentioned as probable successors to Husted.

Did Not Sell to Standard.

Both T. N. Barnsdall, the principal owner, and Treasurer D. Robertson of the Southern Oil Company, entered positive denials yesterday of the report from Butler that that company had sold out its producing interests to the Standard Oil Company. Each admitted, however, that the product of the Southern in Butler county is now being delivered to the pipe lines of the National Transit Company instead of the Producers & Refiners line, controlled by the independents. It is insisted, however, that this does not mean that Barnsdall has surrendered to the Standard. He has for years been working independently of the big concern.

New Officers to Take Hold Here.

Adjt. E. E. H. Dennis and Capt. E. Harker, who have had charge of Corps No. 1 of the Salvation Army in Pittsburgh, have been transferred to Cleveland, O., to take up army work there. Adjt. and Mrs. Bartlett of Cleveland have been placed in charge of the corps in this city. A special revival campaign will be held in the army barracks in Diamond square for a week, beginning next Monday. The army workers will distribute 3,000 baskets of food among the poor on Thanksgiving day.

EAGER TO SHED PATRIOT'S BLOOD

ernment was sending 5,000 troops to retake the port which had recently declared its allegiance to the new republic, and the alcalde left on the Markomannia for Colon for the purpose of obtaining arms and ammunition with which to equip 500 volunteers to resist the expected Colombian attack. The alcalde, however, has returned to Bocas del Toro to allay the fears of the populace and to give assurance that the landing of Colombian troops there will not be permitted.

Panama Hears Good News.

PANAMA, Nov. 13.—The Associated Press correspondent today communicated to Jose Augustina Arango, president of the junta, the first news of President Roosevelt's reception of Phillipe Bunau Varilla as minister of the republic of Panama. Senor Arango expressed great gratification, saying that this act of President Roosevelt made possible the negotiation of a canal treaty.

It is rumored that the situation in Bogota is extremely critical and that there is a continuance of the manifestations of furious despair over the loss of the isthmus. The feeling against President Marroquin is growing in intensity, and one rumor has it that he has been deposed. The populace of Bogota is talking of sending a big expedition to recapture the isthmus at any cost, in their excitability losing sight of the futility of such an attempt.

The British cruiser Amphion will sail for Bueno Ventura on Tuesday next. There are few British residents in that vicinity. It is believed here that Rear Admiral Glass, commander-in-chief of the United States' Pacific squadron, will soon call officially on the junta and that his squadron will salute the flag of the republic.

An enthusiastic reception was given to the commissioners sent to interior towns not in telegraphic communication with Panama to convey the news of the proclamation of independence.

Mr. Varilla Received.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Mr. Varilla, the Panama envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, was formally received at the White House today by the president. The customary speeches of presentation and acceptance were made. After the presentation Mr. Varilla wrote a letter to M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, in which he took occasion to link the United States and France as primarily interested in the new republic and Panama canal and informed the French ambassador that the Panama flag would carry the three colors of France and the United States—red, white and blue.

Mr. Varilla has established his legation here, and it is said tonight that the next step will be the recognition by Panama of Consul General Gudger as minister to Panama. It is even hinted that Mr. Gudger, when he left here on the Mayflower, carried with him his credentials in advance.

It is expected, now that the Panama minister has been duly accredited, that Secretary Hay will lose no time in preparing a general treaty with the republic of Panama. In view of the peculiar relations of the United States at present with Panama, it is likely that the proposed treaty of amity and commerce will contain articles to give the United States control over the republic's foreign and financial policy.

War department officials have reached the determination that the situation at Panama does not warrant the sending of troops there. Both secretary Root and Lieut.-Gen. Young, chief of staff, today authorized the statement to be made that no orders have been issued to any troops to proceed to the isthmus and that none is in contemplation.

ENGLISH EDITOR DIPS HIS FACILE PEN IN GALL

Assails United States, but Admits the Adequacy of Her Diplomacy.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The weekly reviews continue to comment on the situation on the isthmus of Panama. The general tone of the comment is more or less different, with the exception of those of the Speaker, which bitterly addresses itself to the diplomatic victories of the United States since "Napoleon played at establishment of a Mexican empire but gave way before the demand of the Washington government" and including "Lord Salisbury's withdrawal of the demands on Venezuela in the face of President Cleveland's ultimatum," "the British consideration of American opinion concerning the Argentine republic," and lastly, "the blockade of Venezuela when Great Britain, Germany, and even Italy itself, withdrew from the attempt to collect debts, certainly legitimate, from Venezuela."

Continuing, the Speaker, while admitting that "it is only on the map that the Nicaragua canal route competes with the Panama route, which in practice is invincible," predicts that "if the present crisis in Panama is to be established as a precedent, the relations of the United States to Europe will enter on a totally different phase from any hitherto known. If the United States, in a spirit of imperialism, confiscates a province of Colombia in the interests of the canal and defends it—apart from hypocrisies, that is what the movement means—then, for the first time in its existence, the republic will enter into the jealousies, alliances and whole international policies of Europe. The isthmus, once pierced, will become as much a cosmopolitan interest as the isthmus of Suez. The difficulties and the delicate diplomacy and perpetual peril which attended our entrance into Egypt will enter for the first time into American life. Such a canal would transfer one-fifth of the sea-borne commerce of the world to the isthmus and the canal would remain one of the permanent objects of dispute or of armed and allied agreement with the nations of Europe."

Every speaker urged the necessity of honesty in all departments of the government, and dwelt on the fact that honest men should be the only choice of the reorganized Republican party. The following resolution was passed unanimously by the veterans:

Whereas, Many honorably discharged veterans of the civil war, Spanish war veterans and Sons of Veterans are now holding public positions, and,

Whereas, The tenure of office of all such is liable to be disturbed for political reasons in violation of existing laws of the commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Allegheny War Veterans, composed of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors and sons of veterans, do hereby solemnly pledge all honorable effort to their comrades now holding appointive positions to prevent their discharge or removal without cause, and for mere political cause, and also pledge the aid and assistance of this organization to enforce the penalties provided by said laws of the commonwealth for the removal of honorably discharged veterans without cause and hearing.

We hereby republish and reiterate the desires and object of this organization to procure honesty, purity and reform in all public positions.

Arrangements have been made for the assembling of the veterans at headquarters at 7 o'clock tonight. Between 400 and 500 will take part in the big parade to celebrate the victory of the Republican county ticket.

A slight change has been made in the line of march. The parade will march along Robinson street from Federal street to School street, instead of along Lacock street. With good weather it is expected that at least 6,000 men will be in line.

figures of last fall. The Sixth had a majority of 158, a gain of 315 per cent over last November. The district with the next best showing was the Second of the Second, with an increase of 198 per cent.

The victory in the Sixth district is due mainly to the efforts of Councilman Charles A. Spicer, Richard Ellison and Frank Haller. These three were with the Citizens party last fall and carried their district by a large majority for the Bigelow ticket. Dr. Spicer was elected to common council on the Citizens ticket last spring and shortly after became a political "orphan." He supported the ordinance for the abolition of the delinquent tax office last summer and fell out with Wyman over this.

Dr. Spicer is a cousin of Myron T. Herrick, governor-elect of Ohio, and was the latter's inseparable companion until they both left school. Spicer has always been active in Allegheny politics, but never before held public office.

Mrs. Fiske will give her final performances here of "Mary of Magdala" at the Duquesne this afternoon and evening. Next week she will be seen in Henrik Ibsen's absorbing drama of modern life, "Hedda Gabler," that for realism, strength, truth to human nature and study of character, probably has no equal in the theater. Mrs. Fiske recently acted "Hedda Gabler" in New York with phenomenal success, and proved again that she is the greatest English-speaking actress of Ibsen roles.

BURGLARS ENTER FIVE HILL DISTRICT STORES

All Are Located Within Two Squares and Everything But Money Is Scorned—Shop Doors Are Left Wide Open.

Five places of business on the hill within two squares of each other were entered by burglars early yesterday morning, and although but little over $100 was taken, much damage to the interiors of stores was done. The robberies were reported to the police at No. 2 station, in Center avenue, and an investigation is being prosecuted. As yet the police have made no arrests. The victims yesterday were:

JOHN A. BUCHNER, butcher, No. 1804 Center avenue.

SANKEY & SCHWARTZ, butchers, No. 1835 Center avenue.

F. G. MYERS, milk dealer, No. 1824 Wylie avenue.

ANTHONY CAPLAN, grocer, No. 24 Miller street.

The burglars gained access to the stores either by breaking open the front doors or smashing and climbing through the transom. In each case they sought for money alone and did not take anything else. Cash drawers were broken open and ruthlessly searched and thrown aside. The highest amount taken was $40 from Sankey & Schwartz, the others losing in the neighborhood of $15 each. The burglars upset baskets of groceries and cases of provisions in their search for money, and in each case they left the front doors of the store open, so that any one might enter.

On Wednesday, November 4, two stores in the neighborhood of yesterday's robberies were broken into, and the fact that the same means and methods were used points to the same burglars having had a hand in them. The store of J. L. Ackerman, who conducts a butter and egg business at No. 1800 Wylie avenue, and that of Joseph Stein, a grocer at No. 105 Fulton street, were entered at that time. Not much money was found and the burglars did not take anything else. They, however, left the store doors wide open.

WARDS DEPRIVED OF MORE MEMBERS

Citizens Party Leaders Have Reapportionment Bill Held Up in Select Council.

EAST END WOULD MAKE GAINS

Bigelow-Verner Machine Fears It Would Lose Majority of Wards to Be Benefited—Fourteenth and Twentieth on the List.

The resolution for the reapportionment of common council is being held up by the combine committee, or select council at the instance of the Citizens party leaders, but a movement is on foot among the councilmen of the wards which expect an increase in representation to have the measure resurrected. The bill was introduced in July by Thomas M. Brown of the Twentieth ward, which expects to gain a councilman by the reapportionment.

The bill directs that the assessors of the wards be employed to report the number of taxables in the city to councils, the representation of each ward in councils being based upon the number of taxables. The resolution was passed by common council and when it got to Chairman Samuel J. Wainright's committee in select council it was pigeon-holed until after the November election.

The Citizens party leaders did not want to take any chance of increasing the representation of wards which they might lose next February, and they decided to wait for the result of the recent election.

Among the wards which expect to gain represenation are the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, the Twentieth and the Twenty-first and probably another East End ward. The Citizens party leaders practically lost the Fourteenth ward in the last fight, and there was a great slump in the other wards that might gain more councilmen. For this reason they are not anxious for a reapportionment, although the Republicans want it believing that they, as well as the wards, will be benefited.

The assessors will have to be paid for making the returns, and this was the excuse offered for the hold-up of the resolution. A reapportionment was made in 1902 and the Fourteenth ward was one that gained a member. There is another reason given for not making a reapportionment this year. The last reapportionment was delayed two years and the law provides a reapportionment should be made every four years.

BUILDERS' LEAGUE HAS SUSPENDED ALL WORK

Construction Will Be Stopped Until Sympathetic Strikes Have Been Called Off.

The members of the Builders' Exchange league are complying with the order to stop work until the Building Trades' council calls off all sympathetic strikes. Several buildings were deserted yesterday and work on others will be stopped today. The workmen have taken no action on the trouble other than to decide that one trade should assist another in fighting for its demands and to inform the league that they are willing to confer with a view of settling the disputes which are causing the trouble.

Just how many men are idle because of the lockout is a difficult matter to accurately estimate. The league expects 10,000 men will be idle, while the workmen claim the lockout will not affect over 500 men in addition to those already on strike.

The Building Trades' council demands the signing of the plumbers' scale asking for an advance of 50 cents a day, and the Builders' Exchange league is determined to force a discontinuance of sympathetic strikes. If the Master Plumbers' association signs the plumbers' agreement the trouble will be a closed incident, but the demand is considered exorbitant and is refused.

The council claims if it calls off all sympathetic strikes the plumbers will lose their battle, as they can not win the fight single-handed. The league claims it would not have supported the master plumbers had not the sympathetic strikes affected other trades not in any way responsible for the trouble.

ANOTHER COUNCILMAN ILL.

J. S. Wightman on Sick List—Rothweiler Critical for Weeks.

Another councilman was added to the sick list yesterday. It was stated that Select Councilman James S. Wightman of the Twenty-second ward was ill at Atlantic City. He is suffering from acute indigestion. With the exception of W. J. Rothweiler of the Thirty-seventh ward, none of the stricken councilmen are said to be in a critical condition. Mr. Rothweiler has been ill about two months and has been at death's door for two weeks past. His case is regarded as hopeless.

President John S. Lamble of select council was reported improved yesterday. President Charles S. Crawford of common council is quite ill, but he is not at the danger point.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR TURTLE CREEK SOLDIER

The remains of James C. Hall, who died on November 4 at Fort Bayard, N. M., of injuries received about six months ago by a horse falling on him, arrived at the home of his father, William Hall, a former chief of police of Turtle Creek, yesterday. Hall, who was 21 years old, enlisted in the United States army at the opening of the Spanish war and saw service in the Philippines. Veterans of the Spanish war living in the Turtle Creek valley will act as a guard of honor at the funeral this afternoon. The young soldier's remains will be buried in Churchill cemetery, Turtle Creek. Young Hall's brother died two years ago after returning from the Philippines.

BRILLIANT CONCERT BY PITTSBURGH ORCHESTRA

Herbert Was Compelled to Repeat One Selection, Which Brought Much Applause.

A brilliant program well played was the general opinion of the second concert by the Pittsburgh Orchestra at Carnegie hall yesterday evening. Emilio de Gorgoza, baritone soloist, made a most favorable impression, but honors were pretty evenly divided between him and the orchestra.

There were three purely orchestra numbers and one for organ and orchestra. The first was the Beethoven overture "Egmont," one of the earliest examples of modern times of a great composer drawing his inspiration directly from the words of a great poet, the composition in question having been inspired by Goethe's tragedy of the same name. It is a noble dignified selection, and some of the pianissimo and crescendo effects as brought out by Herbert were excellent. The second number, a Haydn symphony "L'Ours," was played for the first time at these concerts. The second movement of this, the allegretto, was remarkable for the exquisite harmonies and sweet tone of the woodwinds. It was generously applauded, but the hit of the evening was made by the fourth movement of a ballet suit "La Farandole," by Dubois.

This movement, scored for all strings, was received with much enthusiasm and after prolonged applause. Herbert repeated it, to the general satisfaction. Van der Stucken's Festival March, opus 12, with organ, was the closing number. Walter E. Hall interpreted the organ part with his usual spirit and technique of splendid finish. This was a brilliant number, almost too loud and crashing for the size of the auditorium.

De Gorgoza sang two numbers, a Massenet aria in the first half, "Le Roi de Lahore," and, being recalled, gave with delicious art the well-known baritone song from "Le Mariage de Figaro." In the second part of the program he appeared to give a group of songs, Martini's "Plaisir d'Amour," and also songs by Rubenstein and Hildach. De Gorgoza's voice is a beautiful flexible baritone, and he sings with a perfect understanding and feeling. He was at once a favorite with the audience. De Gorgoza has never appeared here before, but it was manifest that he will be welcome when he chooses to return. His stage manner was delightfully unassuming, and the quality of his voice is unimpeachably of the best.

JEWELER WAITED WHILE WATCHES WENT AWAY

Smooth Game Played by a Stranger Upon an Allegheny City Merchant.

That old game of the suave gentleman with a penchant for jewelry and the obliging merchant was worked successfully yesterday on Ben Vey of No. 840 East Ohio street, Allegheny. A customer with a smooth countenance entered Vey's jewelry store during the morning, and in a confidential way explained that he intended making a betrothal gift. He was shown a number of watches, two of which he selected. He politely requested that a clerk accompany him with the watches to the home of the bride-elect so that she might make a selection. The wish was granted.

The unknown man escorted the representative to No. 511 Liberty street, Allegheny. Arriving there the stranger opened the front door of the house with a key, bowed the clerk into the parlor and took the watches. The mythical young lady has not yet made her selection and the suave gentleman is still holding to the stolen articles.

The clerk, after having waited in the parlor long enough to familiarize himself with all of the family photographs, called for the lady of the house, and upon the appearance of that personage, explained that he would like to know what had become of his watches. The woman stated that the man applied at her house only that morning for lodging and had paid $2 down for a room. He had no baggage and she did not ask his name. A search of the house proved that the stranger, after receiving the watches, quietly sneaked out of the front door. The matter was immediately reported to the police. Both watches have Waltham movements, are 14 karat gold and are valued at $75.

The Schenley memorial committee of councils has decided upon the erection of a belvedere, on Flagstaff hill, to contain a statue of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley in one of her familiar poses. It is a good plan. The location of the memorial is properly the most imposing spot in the great park which bears the donor's name. The belvedere will add to the attractiveness of the place and the statue will preserve for posterity the likeness of the woman to whom the public of today and the future is and will be indebted for much of pleasure.

Information that President Roosevelt will be obliged to revise his message to congress brings to light some interesting, if not important facts. First, the president had no advance information of the intended revolution; second, that he was about to propose to congress authority to proceed with the canal without asking further favors of Colombia: and third, that his interpretation of the Spooner law is sound and characteristic. In other words, the phrase "a reasonable time," referring to a subject that has been under discussion for four centuries, could not mean instanter, but a period to be determined by common sense and the interest of the nation.

Murders and robberies are becoming so frequent that they amount almost to a reign of terror. Outside the cities there are few officers to contend with the lawless elements; in the cities the police appear equally powerless, though not lacking in numbers. Meantime, the Greater Pittsburgh is acquiring a reputation for being a safe haven for thieves and cut-throats, and there are indications that these undesirable classes are being attracted here by the apparent immunity from arrest or punishment. The only excuse for such conditions in the city is demoralization of the forces of law and order as a result of political exigencies. That is a poor excuse and one that should not long be allowed to serve.

December 11 has been fixed as the date for the Republican national committee to select a place for the meeting of the national convention of next year. If it is desired to have the convention in Pittsburgh no time should be lost in arriving at a definite understanding about the inducements to be offered. The sentimental consideration that the Republican party was born in this city, in Lafayette hall, nearly half a century ago is not enough. The fact that the "state of Allegheny" never falters in its allegiance is but one good argument. More will be needed. If the convention is to be secured for Pittsburgh County Chairman Ford's efforts need to be backed by most substantial inducements. Pennsylvania had the convention in 1900. It cannot have it again at this time unless it hustles vigorously and goes prepared to bid high.

Chicago is having the usual rough experience with a strike of the street railway men. The strike had hardly been declared until rioting began. Yesterday there was less disorder, but the authorities feel none the safer for today. Threats took the place of missiles yesterday, because the police were present in force and had a good working program. The strikers deny responsibility for the riots, and it may be the actual violence was all perpetrated by their sympathizers and the rabble that takes advantage of any excuse for committing overt acts. But the strikers are not wholly free from responsibility while they remain upon the streets, mingle with the crowds and try to prevent the running of cars. If they would absolve themselves from all blame they should retire to their homes and see that no members of their families go forth to mix with the mob. It is absolutely certain the strike cannot be won by violence. There is a possibility that it may be won by peaceful means.

German advocates before The Hague tribunal and the German press are behaving in much the same manner over the Venezuelan arbitration as did the Canadian representatives and the Canadian papers in connection with the Alaska boundary award. The arguments in the Venezuela case were closed yesterday. A decision is not expected for some time. Yet the German papers are denouncing The Hague court and declaring that no nation will hereafter submit claims to it for adjustment. On the contrary, the American advocate in closing, declared the United States will be glad to submit its claims to the tribunal in the future, whether the decision in this case is for or against it. There is but one conclusion to be drawn. The Germans must be conscious of having submitted a weak case. They must realize from the arguments presented and the points decided by the tribunal that their position is untenable. Therefore, they declare in advance of the decision for arbitration by the mailed fist in future. We hope this does not represent German official or popular sentiment, but if it does there is in store for Germany an arbitrament at arms that will leave it forever sorry for its choice. The other nations want peace.

Lightning-Speed Diplomacy.

Events in relation to Panama have moved with a rapidity that will be apt to take the breath of the class of critics who always find their country in the wrong. Panama declared its independence on the 3d inst. Yesterday, just 10 days later, President Roosevelt formally received M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, the envoy of the new republic. The recognition of national independence implied by this act is vested by the Constitution in the president, and it cannot be legally undone by anything congress may do. It is within the power of congress to embarrass the relations thus established by refusing to provide for diplomatic or consular service in Panama, but the recognition of its independence is an accomplished fact. The same considerations which have actuated the executive department will, however, govern the course of congress, and the only open question is whether the Democratic party will make the blunder of arraying itself against patriotic duty and interest for the purpose of attacking the administration.

In his address upon being presented to President Roosevelt, M. Bunau-Varilla went straight to the cardinal feature of the whole proceeding by saying that Panama independence was intended to ensure the construction of the Panama canal. The president in his reply set forth the grounds upon which our prompt recognition of Panama independence is based. The recent events upon the isthmus are the expression of the will of the people of Panama, who have set up a government, the sovereignty of which is unopposed, and our recognition is due to it in accordance with an unbroken series of precedents.

The only thing unusual about the case is its suddenness. The establishment of an independent state and its recognition inside of two weeks is an unique record. There is nothing that comes anywhere near it as regards the rapidity of the transaction, but time is not an essential element and everything is regular and in order. The only point on which the course of the administration is open to criticism is want of any spirit of comity toward Colombia, but Colombia has put herself out of the bounds of comity, and the rudeness with which she has been treated was abundantly invited and provoked.

Destroy the Hold-Up!

Court decisions and illness have given the Democratic-Citizens more complete control of select council than they had at the election of city clerk. If Mayor William B. Hays and County Chairman Murry A. Verner will but give the word the rump committees can be abolished at the next meeting. The rump committees on corporations and surveys are holding up the railroad ordinances of the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Wabash. The abolition of those committees is of sufficient importance to the community to warrant the mayor calling an extra session for the purpose. Will the word be given to abolish those vicious and unnecessary appendages?

There has been some effort recently to deny that the air-tight combine has been holding up this legislation at the behest of the Democratic-Citizens bosses. In the light of the open declarations of Messrs. Finney and McCleave something more than mere assertion is necessary to convince the public on this point. The extermination of the rump committees at the next meeting day of select council would have some weight. A call for a special meeting for the purpose might be taken as an evidence of good faith. A failure to do that public service will, on the contrary, confirm the charge that the air-tight combine takes its orders from the proprietors of the Democratic-Citizens machine.

Actions speak louder then words. It is up to the proprietors of the Democratic-Citizens machine to make good. The air-tight combine and the rump committees are absolutely at their mercy. There is not even a small portion of the public of any political faith opposed to the destruction of the rump committees or the air-tight combine. On the contrary, all of the people favor such action and prompt consideration of the held-up ordinances. This is the time to strike and all eyes are on the Democratic-Citizens machine to see what it will do.

Resuming Work.

Those people who have been floundering in the depths of pessimism, with one eye on Wall street and the other on the temporary phases of the pig iron market, may be surprised by the announcement that the Pennsylvania railroad will not wait until spring to resume work on the improvements suspended about a month ago. They may also be surprised by that other announcement that the Homestead mills will resume operations in full next week. Other people will not be surprised.

There is no official explanation of the Pennsylvania railroad decision to resume work at once upon its low grade freight line. The reason is left to conjecture, but the answer is not difficult. The suspension was ordered because there was a marked decrease in traffic passing over the system and the management anticipated the probability of a protracted depression. Subsequent developments have convinced the management that the depression may be very short-lived. The extremely prosperous conditions of the south and west assure high purchasing power in two important divisions of the country, and that should aid greatly in the resumption of business activity everywhere. Moreover, the manufacturers are preparing for an active export campaign, and that means business for the Pennsylvania road.

Such are the probable active factors in the equation. The one other sufficient reason is that the Pennsylvania management has decided it to be good policy to be forehanded in its expansion, and that it is better to go ahead than to be driven by traffic demands to desperate expedients as it was during the years immediately preceding this one. But looked at from any point of view these things portend the return of abounding prosperity, just as any one might have foreseen who was not too busily engaged in counting actual losses or the losses of paper profits.

The Business Situation.

It is estimated that the capacity of pig iron furnaces in blast on the 1st inst. was nearly 80,000 tons a week smaller than on the 1st of October, and at the present time the total production is the smallest since early in 1901. It should not be taken for granted from these figures, however, that within one month the needs of the country have fallen off at the rate of 4,000,000 tons a year. That is not the case. Since last July consumers have noticed that there was a small but steady accumulation of stocks at furnaces. This accumulation indicated a shifting of market conditions in favor of the consumer and against the producer. The former very naturally waited for the relative change in supply and demand to bring about lower prices. After prices had been reduced without stimulating business, producers adopted measures to regulate supply to demand, and the less economically operated furnaces have been going out of blast. The needs of consumers are still temporarily held in abeyance and something like a deadlock has appeared in the situation. Similar conditions surround other branches of the industry, and as a consequence trade is dull. When there is some feeling of assurance that the bottom has been reached business will revive and consumers will begin to anticipate future wants. At present they are supplying pressing needs only, but these are sufficient to aggregate a large volume.

Earlier in the year another important industry also experienced something approaching a deadlock. Speculators took advantage of a prospective shortage in the cotton crop and an apparent increase in the world's requirements to obtain control of visible supplies. The price advanced to the highest since the civil war. Domestic mills shut down and foreign spinners refused to buy. The action of the latter affected our balance of foreign trade and reduced our credits abroad. Finally the consumers of raw cotton recognized the strength of the position of producers and the business that had been held back came upon the market with a rush. The value of the exports of cotton during four days of the past week was estimated as high as $9,000,000, which was greater than the combined exports for July and August.

The effect of this movement of cotton has been as stimulating on our foreign trade and international exchanges as the decline in iron and steel has been depressing upon domestic trade. Sterling exchange rates dropped to the lowest level for three years, and over $6,000,000 of gold has been engaged in Europe for shipment to the United States in the face of relatively firm money markets abroad and all the obstacles that foreign bankers placed in the way of the movement. In due course a change will occur in the iron and steel industry despite the present discouraging outlook.

One of the disappointing features of the week has been the development of additional labor troubles. When the tendency is toward a curtailment of production and a reduction of costs of operating, the time seems to be very inopportune to inaugurate strikes for higher wages, shorter hours or the recognition of union rules. The effect will be to further postpone plans for improvements which were being considered, based upon lower cost of building material.

Wall street has taken a very pessimistic view of the outlook judged by the further sharp decline in investment values. The stock market, however, always strives to discount the future, and in doing so values are often depressed to a point that more than discounts the worst that can happen. With standard investment securities quoted below the level of five years ago it would seem that Wall street "bears" are carrying their campaign too far.

The Davis Memorial.

An evidence that the Spanish war did really close the breach between the north and the south appears at Charleston, S. C., where this week there was a meeting at which a model for a memorial to Jefferson Davis was approved for reference to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The first approval is by the Davis Monument association, and the design is a circular colonnade, surrounded by 13 columns, each bearing the shield of one of the confederate states. In the center will be a large column, across the top of which will be the motto, "Deo Vindice," the Latin inscription on the seal of the confederacy. At the base of the central column will be a bronze figure of Davis and, if it can be added within the limitations as to cost ($60,000), an allegorical figure of the south will crown the central column.

Such a memorial is necessarily a monument to the lost cause no less than to its dead leader. But a short time ago northern feeling would have been fanned into a conflagration of denunciation and opposition by the receipt of news that an enterprise of the sort was on foot. The spirit of today is different. We are further removed from the bitterness of the decade of the war and the passions of succeeding decades, and old things and new things are viewed in a different light. Men now understand that tolerance of the sentiments that cling around the past is not necessarily approval, and that even sympathy with men and women who cherish those sentiments is not the same as indorsement. If we speak less and less of treason it is not that we do not value more and more the work of the men who preserved the union, but in charity for the reunited brethren and their descendants. If the "bloody shirt" has been burned it is because the fires of patriotism burn higher and purer and brighter. If the memorial to Jefferson Davis is quietly received in the north it is because it is a monument to a man who is dead and of a cause that is dead, designed by the losers who have accepted results and by their children to mark the burial of the past and not as an inspiration to future deeds.

In taking a stand against a canal treaty with Panama, and joining in the Morgan demand for a canal that won't do, the Democracy again indicates its determination to be the tail of the procession until the last bitter pill is swallowed and a new box opened.

The Democrats in the senate who propose to stand on the Spooner bill in opposition to the administration policy had better look around for a soft spot to alight on in case the ground is cut away from under them by a repealing act.

There have not been so many killings in Allegheny county as there would have been if a hanging followed each murder. But there might be fewer murders if there were more hangings.

While a lockout is a bad thing there is some consolation in the reflection that though there may be nothing doing there is something to be done as soon as the key to the situation is found.

The names of the eight members of the new Servian cabinet, without exception, end with "itch." It remains to be seen whether they will do business for seven years.

A Russian attack on Chinese imperial troops is said to have been a mistake, but it would have been a worse one if the Russians had been whipped.

Philadelphia charges that Col. J. M. Guffey is boss of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania ought to be revised to read that he is the whole party.

From the actions of the cotton market it begins to look as if poor people might have to cut it out and wear silk as a measure of economy.

Since it has been recognized by the United States there will be general agreement that Panama is a real republic.

Trouble in Panama seems now to be wholly in the minds of some people at Washington.

Explanations of the course of the stock market are not the same as sure pointers.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Dr. H. F. Swanback, the oldest Odd Fellow in Nebraska, is the only man in that state who wears the Iron Cross of Prussia, presented to him by Frederick IV.

Otis E. Allis, the oldest living male child born in Nebraska, resides at Mentours Station, Ia., just across the river from Omaha. He is the son of the first Nebraska missionary of which there is any account given.

Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris, has has been summoned to Rome. It is supposed for the purpose of ending at once for all the long existing conflict between the French government and the religious interests of France, which is becoming more and more accentuated.

Alfred C. Thomson, recently pastor of the First Free Baptist church of Worcester, Mass., asks his friends and the public, "after much prayer and study of the divine word," kindly to omit the Rev. and D. D. "I have decided," he says, "to discard all titles that are now affixed to my name, believing them to be unscriptural."

The Proper Course.

The people will approve the action taken by the government in regard to Panama. That our course there is right and proper is shown not only by Secretary Hay, but by the approval of the European powers. It is true that some of the continental papers insinuate or even openly charge that the United States instigated and assisted the rebellion, but we need not trouble ourselves over these slanders. The secession of Panama has been under discussion on the isthmus for months, and the Colombian authorities were as well aware of it as our own.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Conditions in England.

Notwithstanding the cracks and crevices in her campanile there is little justification for the sinister prediction by Mr. Chamberlain that England's empire is in peril. Never before were her savings banks so full, her pauper classes relatively so small, her health rate so high, her schools so numerous, her population, as a whole, so thrifty, prosperous, and contented.—Chicago Tribune.

Leniency With Colombia.

With the interests at stake, no other nation in the world would have dealt so leniently with Colombia as the United States have dealt. No other great power would have procrastinated as we have done, or would have offered such liberal premiums to Colombia for considerate treatment. The position of the United States on the continent justifies all that has been done, and more.—Detroit Free Press.

The Best Sunday Newspaper.

The Pittsburgh Gazette is the best Sunday newspaper in Pittsburgh, and probably will show superiority if compared with any Sunday paper in the country. The Gazette contains not a single one of the "yellow" features supposed to be necessary to such publications. It is a model Sunday paper for the home and the office.—Indiana Messenger.

The Story of a Slogan.

Senator Hanna doesn't know anything about the game of poker, and couldn't tell a good hand if it should be dealt to him. Some "sporty" friend just told him that "stand pat" would be a catchy phrase, and it sounded so "devilish" that the senator adopted it with enthusiasm as he tossed off a glass of root beer.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Russia and Germany.

Whatever the principal theme of the imperial conversations, there can be no doubt that events are making for a diplomatic friendship between Germany and Russia which will have a powerful, though we can hardly hope a benign, influence upon the future course of events both in Turkey and China.—London News.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"What God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

Therefore, when a man and a woman have been married they must stay married. So argue those who stickle for the letter of the law rather than the spirit of it.

But hold a moment!

There are a few sentences preceding the one quoted which should be taken in connection with it if you get its true meaning. They are as follows:

"For this cause (having been made male and female) shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they twain shall be one flesh. Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What, therefore, God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

That puts a different face on the subject. Those whom God—not man—joins together become one flesh. No power short of the power of God can do this.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

Under the operations of natural law only those elements having affinity one for the other can be joined together and become one.

Man may join oil and water, but they do not unite and become one. Neither does one cleave to the other. Human law is powerless to compel them to become one, and natural law will not, even if it could. They may be mixed up and kept together in a sort of way by the application of physical force, but there can be no union. God acting through natural law, has not joined them together, and the twain do not become one.

And did you note the fact that it is the man who shall "leave father and mother, and shall cleave unto his wife?"

The prevalent feeling seems to be that it is the woman who shall give up everything and cleave to the man; but the Book (Matt. 19:5) does not say so. Nor does it even suggest that those who do not become one flesh have been joined together by God; nor that the power to thus join man and woman in marriage was ever delegated to either bishop or magistrate.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

You must not infer from this that a civil magistrate is not binding. Being a civil institution regulated by law, those who enter it are bound by the same law. But it does not necessarily follow that because a man and woman are legally married according to civil law that God hath joined them together and forbidden man to put them asunder.

Now the question arises: What is the moral status of those united by human law and not by natural law? If they have not become one flesh through affinity, or the action or natural law, are they really married? If they have only been joined together by human law may they not be separated under the same law.

These are the principal arguments in favor of divorce on the grounds of incompatibility of temperament.

You will find that where God hath joined a man and a woman together it is impossible for man to separate them. The union is of souls, not merely of hands, and human law has but little control over the soul.

It used to be said that "matches are made in heaven." That was when love matches were the rule. Since heaven is the abode of love it would be most natural that matches should originate there.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

The time was, and within the recollection of many, when suits in divorce were rare, and these comparatively void of sensational features. It cannot be said, or at least it cannot be proven, that it was fear of the law, nor of the church, that restricted the number of applications for divorce. The more reasonable, as well as more probable cause, was that married people were better mated. In other words, they had married for love; therefore, did not want to be divorced.

But the good times during the war, and for a few years after, started the divorce boom. Men had grown suddenly rich, and with their riches came the ambition to live in style. The girls whom they had admired when they were all poor alike, were not fine enough for their new houses. They sought women of not, or of fine pedigree, or of high social standing, for wives. Love cut a very small figure, or none at all.

These soon learned, however, that a home without the light, and warmth, and cheer of love is a dark, dreary, chilly place for any man, or woman, or child.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

The flush times gave the stage a big boom. Not only were great crowds drawn to see the plays, but crowds of emotional women and men flocked on to the stage and became players. Some became actors, but not a great many. Being emotional, impulsive and hopeful, it was but natural that they would marry, and marry in a hurry. And just as naturally they repented, and repented in a hurry, and in order that they might repeat their folly they flew to the divorce court.

For several years after this the New York and Chicago papers teemed with divorce news. Nor were the cases confined to theatrical people alone, but included a great many in which wealth, style, or social position had been the motive that led to marriage.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

As time wore on divorce suits became so commonplace that newspapers no longer regarded them as "good stuff" unless the parties interested were well known, or the charges and disclosures of a highly sensational character. At the present time the records must contain lots of "hot stuff" before a newspaper will put a display head on a divorce suit; nor is there as great effort made to keep mention of suits out of the papers as in former times. Indeed, it would require some effort to secure a mention, unless the case promised to produce a sensation in due time.

Sensational suits for divorce at present are confined mainly to the class of persons known as nervous degenerates. This name does not signify a class of perverts, nor imbeciles, but those who are abnormally sensitive and impulsive. There are two classes of these; the superior and the inferior degenerate. The former are more or less streaked with genius, while the latter tends towards moral degradation.

❊ ❊ ❊ ❊ ❊

In a broad sense a nervous degenerate is insane: that is, in an unsound or unhealthy state of body, or of mind, or of both. Infatuation is one of the prominent symptoms of this disorder. The victim may possess the power of fascination over sympathetic members of the opposite sex, or may be easily fascinated, but they seldom, if ever, love truly and faithfully.

Jealousy is always associated with fascination, but never with love, or at least not to any considerable degree.

Love never turns to hate. As soon expect gold to turn to pewter, sunlight change to darkness, or the breath of life to noxious vapor, as for love to turn to hate.

Peary and the Pole.

Nothing can daunt or discourage Peary, who is determined to discover the north pole if human endeavor can possibly accomplish that incomparable enterprise. He naturally thinks his chances of success are better than ever before, because of his extensive experience and his previous exploits in high latitudes. That magic spell of the frozen north has laid hold of his inmost soul, as it has of the souls of so many other explorers, and he cannot shake it off. May success attend him.—New York Tribune.

The South Doesn't Want It.

It is discouraging to see a man of Senator Gorman's ability seeking to make the race question a campaign issue. It is to be hoped that it was his purpose to employ it merely in a local way in the Maryland campaign. That would be bad enough. It would be infinitely worse to make it an issue in a national campaign. Senator Gorman may please the unthinking, but he has made a blunder that will greatly weaken his chances for the Democratic nomination for president.—Nashville American.

Little Americans.

There is nothing easier than faultfinding. A pigmy may rail against omnipotence. It is a different thing to prescribe a satisfactory alternative to the thing condemned. The American government is being abused for its conduct in Panama. But we have not heard any of its denouncers telling what else it could have done that would have pleased them better.—New York Tribune.

More Colombian Greed.

The indecent eagerness with which Colombia is appealing to Panama to come back into the fold, in order that the politicians of Bogota may handle the good money of the United States, which they spurned some time ago, just shows how absurd it is to attribute patriotism to the blackmailers.—New York Evening Sun.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In the effort to make traffic easier at the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn bridge it is possible Commissioner Lindenthal may have set the pace for a maddening rush of conflicting ideas such as were set free by Mark Twain's famous quatrain of which the burden was "Punch in the presence of the passenjare." There are eight "loops" at the bridge entrance. On each loop a different trolley car will whirl around, bound for awfully complicated localities in Brooklyn and calling on the devoted wayfarer to remember that while "loop 3" will take him along the "DeKalb and Seventh avenue lines," whatever that may mean, "loop 2" next to it will send him whooping along the "Gates avenue and Flatbush avenue lines." These directions may have some meaning to a Brooklynite of lifelong familiarity with that confusing borough, but to the average Manhattan resident, who goes to Brooklyn only occasionally, they are worse than dead silence. The "blue trip slip for a 10-cent fare," and "a pink slip for a 7-cent fare" are lucidity itself in comparison. Which is "loop 3" and "where is loop 7?" we may fancy the bewildered traveler asking, while the policeman on duty joins in the quest and tears his hair maniacally. Mr. Lindenthal is a splendid bridge engineer, as several specimens of his achievement in Pittsburgh will testify, but in untangling the series of knots at the bridge approach in Park Row at the rush hour he has undertaken a task which calls for superhuman ability. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Lindenthal is thus endowed.

Women Faint While Irving Acts.

Henry Irving is "hot stuff" when he lays himself out to do his best in the way of acting. Three women fainted in the theater in which he was playing "Waterloo" last night.

Blind Violinist Does Good Work.

Very quiet was the announcement that Edwin Grasse, violin virtuoso, would appear in Carnegie hall last evening, in conjunction with the Wetzler symphony orchestra. He was advertised as a violinist from Europe. When he was led upon the spacious platform, it was seen that he was blind. His affliction made no apparent difference in his playing, and the determination of his managers not to make a "freak" of him, or to appeal for sympathy was appreciated by the audience. The program was an impressive one, including works of Beethoven, Brahms and Bach, and the performer handled them all with skill and taste. It was a splendid presentation of a worthy program. Grasse has made something of a sensation among musicians here. He will play in Pittsburgh soon.

Coneyites Have a Grievance.

It will not be so easy to get to Coney Island this winter as it was last. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit has shut off the service over one route, stopping its trains at Ulmer park, which is a few miles from Coney and nearer to Bath Beach. The company thinks the traffic in cold weather would not pay. People who are in business at Coney Island, with real estate concerns which are trying to build up that part of Long Island, have entered a serious protest. They hope the railway company will reconsider. Coney Island is a chilly place in winter, but there are many persons who like to inhale the sharp salt air in December and January, as well as in July. Besides, society is more select at Coney in winter than in summer.

Maude Casts Her Shadow Before.

It is said along the rialto that the coming of Maude Adams has given a fillip to the theatrical business here. There has been better attendance this week all along the line than for a month past.

Of Interest to Lovers of Art.

With the coming of cool weather art exhibitions are opening and the lover of pictures can loaf about in comfortable warm corridors and look at paintings, water colors, photogravures and other examples of the picture-maker's art to his heart's content. A loan exhibition of portraits for the benefit of the Orthopaedic hospital will open at the American art galleries next week. This hospital has been brought prominently into public interest by the operations performed by Dr. Lorenz last spring.

Another Chance for Tammany.

Center street may have a new courthouse. It will be opposite the criminal court building and within speaking distance of the tombs. That is, if the plans of Mayor Low are carried out. He thinks the east side of Center street, near Franklin and Baxter streets, would make a splendid situation for the building. There is a trifling objection in the way in the shape of a law which requires the courthouse to be somewhere else, but it is thought that can be overcome. While laws are being changed, it is intended to make a provision for the widening of Park Row from Chambers to Pearl streets, by not less than 50 feet. These plans are all suggested, but it will be Tammany that will have to put them through. Tammany does not care. It is willing to tackle anything so long as it knows it will have a full sweep at the money treasury.

Old Game Growing Too Common.

Six months in the workhouse was the sentence of a "crust-thrower" by Magistrate Cornelly. "Crust-throwing" is a very old dodge of the professional mendicant. A shivering, emaciated man is noticed by some well-dressed, benevolent appearing woman to pick up a crust from the gutter and eat it ravenously. Where is the woman who could resist such an appeal to her charity? Naturally she hands the poor man a coin to get a good meal and walks away with the warm glow at her heart which follows a kindly act. The beggar waits till she is out of sight and then looks out for another woman so that he can throw the crust into the gutter and make a dive for it just as she draws near. It is a trick that brings rich results to the old-timer and pays for many a "pull o' suds" in the thieves' kitchen at night. The only drawback is that the police are "on."

Political Drift.

Senator Gorman's boom for the Democratic nomination for president is likely to be [illegible] aged somewhat by his non-adherence to [illegible] free trade or free silver, though Marse H[illegible] Watterson sets an example of forgiveness[illegible] Washington Star, (Ind.-Rep.) says: "Th[illegible] fort to disentangle Mr. Gorman from his [illegible] record will at least afford entertai[illegible] Strangely enough, a long letter in that [illegible] has been addressed to Henry Watterso[illegible] has been received by him in that ho[illegible] manner for which he is justly famo[illegible] this was unnecessary. \+ + + +

"It is not surprising that a movement should be on foot in New York for the creation of a new Democratic organization," says the New York World (Dem.). "The national stronghold of Democracy, a city that casts more Democratic votes than any state of the solid south, is the only city in the Union in which there is not an organized Demo[illegible] party interests are i[illegible] association called Tam[illegible] are only incidentally [illegible] many earnest Democ[illegible] themselves to act with Tammany, and they ought to have an organization that would be Democratic and nothing else."

\+ + + +

Mr. Gorman's race prejudice issue does not look like an election winner to the Philadelphia Press (Rep.) which says: "The drift now is toward Gorman, of Maryland. The Democratic voice from the south is particularly strong for him, and is all the stronger because he saw fit to raise the race issue in his state. Nothing is better calculated than that to bring the south to the support of any man. What the effect may be upon the Democrats of the northern states is yet to be determined, though it cannot be expected that they are going to welcome a campaign with the race question as the overshadowing issue. In many sections it would prove as disastrous to the party as that miscellaneous collection of mischiefs embodied in the Kansas City platform."

\+ + + +

"The farce is over; the curtain has been rung down," says the Cincinnati Times-Star (Rep.); "Ohio has laughed Tom Johnson off the stage of political life, leaving only those who took him seriously to feel aggrieved. Circus, fakir, and similar methods dear to the Johnson heart have no place in the future in Ohio politics."

\+ + + +

"The close haul which Gorman had in Maryland, despite his whirlwind campaign, and the practical collapse of the good government movement in New York city on the peremptory demand of the Democratic campaign of 1904, leave Gorman in a bad position on the Democratic stage," says the Boston Journal (Rep.) "He has committed the Democratic party to the disfranchisement of southern Republican wage workers because, though the enterprise is unconstitutional, it is necessary to be unconstitutional to save the Democratic party."

\+ + + +

Speaking of the Democratic jubilation over the elections in Maryland and New York city the Philadelphia Bulletin (Rep.) reminds the shouters that a Democratic majority in New York city does not mean a Democratic majority in the state and it continues: "The last electoral college had 447 votes of which 292 were given McKinley in 1900 and 155 to Bryan. The next college will number 476, as a result of congressional reapportionment; and 239 votes will be necessary to a choice. The states carried by Bryan have received an accession of 10 votes. If they should all go for the Democratic nominee in 1904 they would afford a basis of 165 electors to start from. Maryland has 8 votes. New York, under the recent apportionment, has 39. These 47, added to the Bryan column, would make a total of 212, or 27 short of a majority.

\+ + + +

On one point there seems to be unanimity of opinion. Johnson and Bryan are out. Says the Washington Post (Ind.-Dem.): "The Johnson campaign in Ohio was, to all intents and purposes, a demand for the revival of Populism, or its alias, Bryan Democracy. The result was the most crushing defeat that Democrats have ever sustained in the state. Tom Johnson has been removed from the list of presidential possibilities as a representative of the Bryan wing of the Democracy, and the Democratic organization in Ohio has been emphatically notified that it will have to abandon its Populistic leaders if it wishes to command the confidence and votes of any respectable number of the citizens of the state."

An English Hint to Canada.

The good will of the great western republic is no less valuable to its immediate neighbors across the Canadian border than to ourselves; and it can certainly be much more profitably and permanently secured by prudence and forethought in the avoidance of controversial issues, such as the Alaska question has given rise to, than even by the submission of such issues after they have arisen to the peaceful arbitrament of any court or tribunal. We have ourselves learned this lesson to our cost in the not very remote past. The award given against this country in connection with the Alabama claims was no whit less galling to us than the finding of the majority of the Alaska boundary commission is to the Canadians. But we had the good sense to accept it in the proper spirit, and we have found ample compensation for the loss it inflicted upon us in the growth which dates from that turning point in our relations with the United States of a new and better feeling between the two countries. We have no doubt that the Canadians will face their disappointment on this occasion in the same reasonable temper and with equally satisfactory results.—London Times.

No American commonwealth can afford to be known as a mercenary source of letters of marque under which predatory schemers can enrich themselves by plundering other people. ...ITY TO BUILD THE MEMORIAL

Bigelow to pre- ...re plans and estimate of the cost of a ...lvedere. When these are furnished an ordinance will be introduced in councils making the necessary appropriation, which will be included in the annual appropriations for next year.

The design of the memorial and the manner of raising the funds were suggested by Director Bigelow, who was present at the meeting of the committee. The members of the committee present were W. H. Stevenson, W. J. Zahniser, W. C. Reitz, J. P. Shaw and Samuel J. Wain... ... motion of Mr. ... was made chair- ... Director Bigelow ... Hays were both ... views were asked ...for.

Director Bigelow said the committee must first consider the design of the memorial and how the money was to be raised. He thought the only practical method was by an appropriation of councils. Mr. Reitz said he favored public subscriptions and if enough money was not obtained that way an appropriation could be made by councils. Mr. Bigelow cited instances to show that public subscriptions could not be depended upon.

He said a fund for a memorial to Mrs. Schenley had been started about 10 years ago and but $1,700 had been raised by public subscription. He was asked about the fund for the C. L. Magee memorial and he replied that $33,000 had been raised for it and it had stopped there.

Bigelow Defended Traction Company.

Mr. Stevenson suggested that the street car companies ought to make a liberal contribution because it made considerable money by hauling people to the parks. Director Bigelow was not in favor of Mr. Stevenson's suggestion.

"That would be the same as highway robbery," he said. "The traction company does not haul people to the parks because they appreciate the parks, but they haul them there to get their nickels. If the traction company gave anything it would not be because it appreciated the parks, but because it had to contribute," said Mr. Bigelow.

Mr. Shaw thought that the people ought to have an opportunity to contribute something in adition to any sum that councils might appropriate. Mr. Stevenson said that if the public were asked for contributions and enough money was not raised in this manner it would be a reflection upon the people, although it might be an unjust one. Mr. Wainwright said that it would be hard to get money at present on account of the depression in financial circles.

Mayor Hays agreed with Mr. Wainwright. He said he had experienced this difficulty in raising funds for the Fourth of July celebration this year. He said it would be impossible to depend upon the general public and that the only way to get money would be to make a personal visit to the business men. He said that there had been many subscriptions of a public character lately and that the people are tired of being called upon for money. He said that in spite of all the efforts of Director Bigelow and himself this year only $7,000 had been raised for the Fourth of July.

Bigelow Talked With Carnegie.

At this point Director Bigelow said he had been talking with a number of wealthy men lately about contributions to the Schenley memorial and he thought it possible that some funds from that source might be obtained. Messrs. Stevenson and Wainwright asked Mr. Bigelow if he could not get something from Andrew Carnegie and if he had not been talking to Mr. Carnegie about the matter.

Mr. Bigelow said that Mr. Carnegie was willing to give the money, but he was in doubt whether it would be the proper thing. The director said he would have another talk with Mr. Carnegie before another week, but he thought that the way for the memorial to be built was by the city. It would then be the gift of the whole people.

Mr. Stevenson finally came around to Mr. Bigelow's way of thinking and said he thought an appropriation was the best plan. This point seemed settled and the committee discussed the design of the memorial. Mr. Bigelow said that an arch of suitable size and character would cost about $250,000. He declared an arch would have to be located at the entrance to Schenley park, near Forbes street, and would have to be large enough to prevent it from being overshadowed by the Hotel Schenley, otherwise the arch at the entrance to the park would look squatty, as does the courthouse alongside the Frick building.

Belvedere Cheaper Than Arch.

Mr. Bigelow said a belvedere would be appropriate and cheaper and on Flagstaff Hill would be in full view from all directions. He said a belvedere would be about 40 or 50 feet high, supported by columns with a statue of Mrs. Schenley in the center, the figure to be in a sitting position.

Plans and an estimate of the cost would be prepared, said Mr. Bigelow, and then the money for the purpose would be appropriated by councils in the annual appropriations next February. He volunteered to get the plans and estimates and the committee accepted his proposition. The committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.

FALSE PRETENSE CHARGE.

Insurance Company Disputes McKees Rocks Woman's Valuation of Burned Clothing.

Mrs. Lulu Postlethwaite of McKees Rocks was held in $500 bail by Alderman James V. McMasters yesterday on a charge of false pretense made by Walter Morris, an agent of the Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company. It is alleged that Mrs. Postlethwaite secured $90 from the Insurance Company by swearing that a sacque, which was burned in a fire at her home about a month ago, was worth $125, when it originally was purchased for less than $..0. It is also alleged that she swore falsely about the value of other clothes.

Mrs. Postlethwaite and young daughter were injured in the elevator accident in the I. Golob building, Fifth avenue, last spring, and she has a suit for heavy damages pending against the owner of the building.

Returned After Many Years.

Robert G. Halbert, who disappeared from Allegheny in 1892, returned yesterday and visited his sister, Mrs. Grace Starks, No. 123 Rebecca street. Halbert went to Chicago during the world's fair there and it was reported some time later that he had been killed there. As nothing was heard of him after this story was believed to be true.

BIG GUARANTEE FUND TO SECURE CONVENTION

Meeting of Three Mayors and Business Men at City Hall Monday.

Pittsburgh will have to hustle if it hopes to win the national Republican convention of 1904. Thomas J. Ford, county chairman, has been notified that the Republican national committee will meet December 11 in Washington to hear the petitions of the cities asking for the convention, and Chairman Ford has arranged for a conference of the representatives of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce and the East End, South Side and Oakland boards of trade with the committee of Pittsburgh councils to be held Monday afternoon in the office of Mayor William B. Hays.

Chairman Ford, Mayor Hays, Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny and Mayor George J. Falkenstein of McKeesport will be present.

Senators M. S. Quay and Boies Penrose, Congressman John Dalzell, H. Kirke Porter and James W. Brown will be urged to lend their efforts for Pittsburgh. It is said that Attorney General P. C. Knox has promised to do some effective work along this line.

It is claimed, however, that Pittsburgh will have to raise a guarantee fund of not less than $100,000 if it can hope to compete successfully with other cities. At the meeting on Monday measures to gather subscriptions of this amount will be considered.

ORGANIZATION FORMED BY KAUFMANN'S CLERKS

Benefits Paid to Sick Members and a Sum to Heirs in Cases of Death.

A beneficial organization that is expected to do a lot of good has been in existence a little over a month in Kaufmann's store. It is known as Kaufmann's Employes' Beneficial and Protective association, the officers being Charles Klein, president; Henry Neely, vice president, and H. M. McCormick, secretary. Seventeen members act as the executive board. The only salaried officer is the recording secretary. A charter has been applied for.

Of the 1,600 employes of the firm there are 900 who are members of the organization, and before long it is expected that the number will be increased to 1,200. The dues have been 25 cents a month, and if it is found that this amount will be sufficient to run the organization they will remain the same. If not, they will be increased to 40 cents a month. When the association was formed the firm made it a present of $1,000. In case of illness a member is allowed $5 a week for a term not exceeding 13 weeks. For a death each member is assessed 25 cents, and the amount raised is given to the heirs of the deceased member, which with the present membership would be $225. There are now six members on the sick list, but so far there have been no deaths.

Many other of the large stores in this vicinity have similar organizations, two of the strongest and oldest being those at Boggs & Buhl's and Solomon's. The custom in vogue in some of the other associations of holding entertainments will later be adopted by the Kaufmann concern.

MILLS AT HOMESTEAD WILL RESUME WORK

All Departments to Be Running by Monday—Braddock Plant Closed for Repairs.

All the mills of the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company will practically be working to their full capacity by next Monday. Some of the departments have been shut down for the last two weeks. The open hearth furnaces, the 35, 40, 10, 28 and 33-inch mills, which have been shut down for several days, will all resume in full tomorrow night, as will also the Howard axle works, which will start with five hammers, double and single turns on all the lathes.

All the other departments have been working constantly and the complete resumption of the big mills will mean that all the men now idle in Homestead will go back to work. Notwithstanding the many rumors of a reduction, none is expected at the Homestead plant.

The Ninth street plant of the American Steel & Wire Company at Braddock, suspended operations last evening, and will remain closed for two or three weeks for repairs. An official of the plant said that after the installation of new machinery in the rod and wire mills, as well as placing new machines in the nail mill, the plant will resume. The plant employs 950 men and had not had more than a two days' shut-down in four and a half years.

Bids for Allegheny Supplies.

Mayor James G. Wyman and Director Thomas B. Scandrett yesterday afternoon opened bids for supplies for the Allegheny department of public safety for the ensuing year. They were referred to the clerks of the mayor's and director's offices for tabulation. The contracts will be awarded at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning.

OFFER OF NEW LIBRARIES MEETS COOL RECEPTION

Philadelphia Councilmen Send Carnegie's Proposition Back to Committee.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—"The meat of the question is whether the Carnegie offer in its present shape is sufficiently attractive to the people of Philadelphia to justify councils in entering into an agreement with him," concluded Select Councilman Clay, ending a long discussion at the meeting today of the committee on public libraries and museums called for the express purpose of referring to councils with a favorable recommendation the Carnegie offer of $1,500,000 for 30 branch libraries.

Contrary to all expectations the committee failed to approve the report of the sub-committee which had the matter under discussion all summer and which advocated the acceptance of the offer. Instead there seemed to be a disposition among some to decline the gift altogether, the members of the committee objecting to iron-clad provisions attached to Mr. Carnegie's proposition.

This sudden change in the attitude of councilmen concerning the project is unexplained, but the fact that several administration leaders were in conference during the meeting while other matters were being considered and that a concerted attack on the proposed Carnegie contract was made immediately afterward created a suspicion that it was the intention of councils to indefinitely postpone the bill as a slight to the mayor, who has openly and repeatedly advocated its acceptance.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

SUTTON TELLS OF BRIBERY AND OF THE JURY FRAUDS

Prominent Michigan Man Lays Bare the Dealings With Law Officers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LANSING, MICH., Nov. 13.—At the continuation of the hearing in the case of Ex-Senator John Holbrook, on the charge of attempted bribery of a juror in the interests of Col. Eli R. Sutton, indicted for state military clothing frauds, Col. Sutton today laid bare the means used to place persons favorable to his interests on the jury. At every step he implicated Holbrook, who kept track of the grand jury.

He admitted that the special session of legislature had been called to impeach Judge Person, who had convened the grand jury, but the impeachment message was not presented, for the night before the legislature convened, the military clothing frauds were made public and himself implicated.

Holbrook, according to Sutton's testimony, prepared a list of jurors which Sheriff Porter summoned and at least two of these served upon the jury that acquitted Sutton of complicity in the clothing frauds.

After his acquittal, Holbrook told the witness that he would have to have money to pay Deputy Loomis, Chief of Police Sanford and Detective Abels for their services.

Restaurant Keeper Heard.

Morris Price, a restaurant keeper at Fifth avenue and Elm street, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Alderman C. C. McGovern, charged by William H. Moffitt of No. 112 Baxter street, with conducting a gambling house. The alderman, at the conclusion of the hearing, announced that he would not render a decision for several days.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN COST OF LIVING

Bureau of Labor Places It at 16.1 Per Cent in the United States.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The bureau of labor has issued a bulletin on the cost of living of workingmen's families, showing that of 2,567 families in 33 states from whom data was obtained the average income per family was $827 19; average expenditure for all purposes, $768 54; average expenditure per family for food, $326 90, and the average size of family 5.31 persons. The last figure is seven-tenths above the average of private families in the whole country as shown by the census of 1900. The food expense is more than 42½ per cent of the expenditure for all purposes.

An extended investigation covering the years 1890-1902 shows that the cost of food reached its highest in 1902, the average then being 10.9 per cent above the average for the decade 1890-1899, and an increase of 16.1 per cent, compared with 1896, the year of lowest prices. It is announced as a conservative conclusion that the increase in the cost of living, as a whole, in 1902 when compared with the year of lowest prices, was not over 16.1 per cent, the figure given as the increase in the cost of food as shown by this investigation. This assumes, of course, always the purchase of the same articles and the same quantities in years of low prices, low wages, and more or less irregular employment, and in years of higher prices, higher wages and steady employment.

PRESSED STEEL OPENS BUILDING

Heads of the Departments and the Clerks Are Brought Together.

STRUCTURE HAS COST $70,000

Located at Preston, Near McKees Rocks Plant, and Houses 150 Men—Telephones and Telegraph Connect It With the Pittsburgh Offices.

One of the most complete and conveniently-arranged office buildings in Pittsburgh was opened yesterday by the Pressed Steel Car Company at Preston, near McKees Rocks. It is distinct from the "general offices," which are in the Farmers bank building, and is designed to house those officials and clerks whose presence is constantly needed at the plants. The general superintendent, chief engineer, purchasing agent and general freight agent, with their forces, occupy every floor, and by an elaborate system of telephones, telegraph wires and messengers it is not necessary for one of them or their subordinates to leave their offices. Dining rooms are even provided.

Before the erection of the new building these heads of departments were located in various places. An old building at the Allegheny works formerly housed some of them. The scattered forces, however, and the increased business of the company compelled the higher officials to figure on a consolidation plan, and last spring ground was broken and a contract awarded to A. M. Wilkie for the construction of a modern five-story brick, fireproof building near the McKees Rocks works at a cost of $70,000. It has practically been completed, and most of the officials moved in yesterday.

Despite the careful planning and the enormous floor space some of the offices, with the large number of men, are going to prove rather small. This could not be prevented on account of the fact that since last spring the engineering department has been increased, as well as dozens of clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, etc., added to the other departments.

The building is somewhat of an imposing structure, facing the Ohio river. It stands on a slight elevation which is now being laid off into grass plots, while quite near the building is a ball ground for the use of the employes. It is said that the company will shortly convert the basement of the building into a gymnasium.

It is hardly necessary to go into detail as to the arrangement of the offices, private rooms and halls, except to say that each department head has his office located in such a way that his clerks and assistants are on both sides. The engineering department under the supervision of Chief Engineer Charles Lindstrom, occupies most of the space, while Gen.-Supt. Christopher Flynn, Purchasing Agent E. A. Forgeus and General Freight Agent J. B. Maher occupy not a few offices. In all there are from 125 to 150 people in the building.

The two dining rooms and the kitchen are on the fifth floor. The largest dining room is for the clerks. Meals are served at the noon hour at the nominal cost of 15 cents each—meals that could not be duplicated in the city at 50 cents. The higher officials occupy a separate room. W. H. Seibert, secretary to Vice President J. W. Friend, yesterday afternoon took a party of friends to Preston and showed them over the new building and the McKees Rocks works.

COMBINERS ARE HAVING TROUBLE

Find That Public Sentiment Is Against Their Return to Councils.

CAN FIND NO CONSOLATION

Vote for District Attorney and Sheriff Is Given for the Three Cities, the Boroughs and Townships—A Fight in Wilkinsburg.

Members of the select council combine that are seeking a re-election are worried. They thought that the Republicans would overlook their errors, but in this they were fooled. The combiners now turn to the Bigelow machine for assistance, but the bosses, through fear, are slow to give aid.

The public generally is asking for the defeat of every member of the combine. Few of them have any influence in their wards, and to secure another term in council they have to get outside support. When the combiners joined forces with the Bigelow machine the deal was made with the promise that the bosses were to give support in the February election. Since then sentiment has been shown to be against the combine and the leaders of the Citizens party are afraid to keep their promises. When one meets a combiner he is hunting consolation. He asks that the past be blotted out and an opportunity be given to atone for the sins of other days. The public is not disposed to forgive, but is demanding that new men occupy the seats of the councilmen who throttled public improvements.

How the Vote Was Divided.

To give an idea of the vote cast in the three cities, boroughs and townships in the recent election, totals were yesterday made of the poll for sheriff and district attorney. The following is the vote for district attorney:

Stewart, Republican—Pittsburgh, 21,750; Allegheny, 8,568; McKeesport, 3,302; boroughs, 13,819; townships, 6,529. Total, 52,860.

Goehring, Citizens-Democrat — Pittsburgh, Democrat 12,289, Citizens 13,076; Alleghany, Democrat 3,685, Citizens 6,837; McKeesport, Democrat 1,442, Citizens 1,794; boroughs, Democrat 5,019, Citizens 3,773; townships, Democrat 2,052, Citizens 1,875. Total, 51,611.

Dickson, Sheriff, Republican—Pittsburgh, 21,840; Allegheny, 8,895; boroughs, 13,575; McKeesport, 1,905; townships, 6,673. Total, 52,836.

Brown, sheriff, Citizens-Deomcrat — Pittsburgh, Democrat 12,212, Citizens 13,062; Allegheny, Democrat 3,408, Citizens 6,602; McKeesport, Democrat 1,032, Citizens 1,079; boroughs, Democrat, 4,991, Citizens 3,735; townships, Democrat 3,085, Citizens 1,862. Total, 51,068.

The vote for sheriff gives the best presentation of the strength of the Citizens party in the county.

A certificate from the supreme court has been sent to common pleas court No. 3 of the non pros. taken in the appeal of James W. Piatt against the writ of ouster filed against him in the Second ward select council contest. It has been placed on file and Piatt has ten days from November 11 in which to ask for a rearrangement. The papers in the Donahue case have not been made up.

Fight in Wilkinsburg.

Wilkinsburg is entering upon what is certain to be the hottest political campaign ever conducted in the borough. Three councilmen, one from each ward, are chosen at the February election, but the real fight will be at the primaries. In the First and Third wards the fight will be particularly warm, as both districts have two factions of the Republican party, who are striving for control.

The three councilmen whose terms expire are John H. Davidson, of the First ward; Samuel Steele, of the Second ward, and D. B. Douthett, of the Third. Steele is very popular in his ward and will probably have no opposition. He is the only candidate in the field so far.

The hardest battle will be in the First ward. For several years William Turner, who was candidate for poor director on the Citizens ticket at the recent county election; Councilman George Grabe and George Rankin have controlled affairs in this ward. Last year they succeeded in electing S. J. Horner to council in place of Captain Arthur Stuart.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon at which were present several of the present councilmen and an officials of the borough, a plan of campaign was outlined to support Captain Stuart for council this year. This means that the Turner faction must fight every foot of ground to retain its leadership.

William J. McCaig announced his candidacy last night for common council. He lives in Butler street, Fifteenth ward, and is the treasurer of the Fifteenth ward Republican club.

INSPECTED COAL MINES.

Canadian Railway Officials Visit Ellsworth Property on the Pennsylvania.

Accompanied by a number of local Pennsylvania railroad officials Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president, and Sir William C. Van Horn, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific railroad, with Charles E. Pugh, second vice president, and J. B. Thayer, fifth vice president of the Pennsylvania, yesterday made a hurried journey to Monongahela City and the properties of the Ellsworth Coal Company at Ellsworth. Rear Admiral C. E. Clark of Philadelphia was also a member of the party, being the special guest of Mr. Pugh.

"There was no significance to the visit of the Canadian Pacific officials to the Ellsworth mines," said Mr. Pugh last night upon his return to the city. "The Ellsworth Coal Company supplies coal to the Canadian Pacific, and the Pennsylvania does most of the hauling. This is the principal reason for the trip."

MOTHERS AID TEACHERS.

Good Work Being Done by the Fifth Ward Co-Operative Association.

The monthly meeting of the Teachers' and Parents' Co-operative association of the Fifth ward school was held yesterday afternoon and was well attended. The purpose of the organization to promote the education of the children through the co-operation of the teachers and parents, is thoroughly understood by nearly every mother in the Fifth ward and good results are being secured.

Dr. T. H. Myers spoke yesterday on "Teeth and Their Care," and the Rev. Dr. Henry D. Lindsay discussed "Some of the Problems of City Mothers."

This organization is one of the results of the progressive methods recently suggested by Miss Kate C. McKnight, one of the members of the school board.

Brought Street Car Company to Time.

City Engineer Thomas W. White of McKeesport succeeded in compelling the Pittsburgh Railways Company at McKeesport to carry out its agreement to place its tracks on Fifth avenue and Evans avenue, McKeesport, in good condition. The company yesterday placed a gang of men at work on the Fifth avenue route. The engineer now will not enter proceedings in court.

GARDEN FILLED BY FINE CROWD

Masons and Their Wives Celebrate Fifty-First Anniversary of Local Scottish Rites.

OVER 3,800 IN ATTENDANCE

Men in Evening Dress and Women Perfectly Gowned Take Possession of the Big Building and Enjoy an Entertainment of High Class.

Every seat in Duquesne garden's large auditorium was occupied last evening and several hundred men and women were standing on the outskirts of the seated crowd during the celebration of the fifty-first anniversary of the bodies of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry in the valley of Pittsburgh. Over 3,800 persons were present, of whom many came from other cities.

Nearly every man in the audience was in evening dress and the gowns of the women were the finest examples of the dressmaker's art. Throughout the garden were palms, and festoons of creeping greens covered the bareness of the steel beams. The effect was most pleasing. To this was added the spirit of fraternity, which is often absent from large gatherings of a mixed character.

This year's entertainment was admittedly the most lavish the Scottish rite bodies of this valley have ever given. The quality of the vaudeville entertainment was the highest to be secured. It was under the direction of James W. Conant and consisted of 10 numbers — Musical Huehn, Wills and Collins, the Ford sisters, Edith Helena, Charles Burke and Grace LaRue, Trask and Gladden, the Flood brothers, Mary Norman and the kinetograph. Edith Helena won special honors, her remarkable range and clearness of voice being shown with great effect. Her playing of the highest notes on a violin and then removing the violin from her shoulder and showing that the clear tones had come from her throat instead of the instrument brought her a round of applause.

Between the two parts of the entertainment refreshments were served in the palm room back of the auditorium proper. The entertainment ended shortly before midnight.

Yesterday brought to a close also the work of conferring the Scottish rite degrees upon the largest class the valley of Pittsburgh has ever produced. In all there were 250 candidates, and it required from Tuesday morning, working all day and every evening, until yesterday at noon to complete the work through to the end of the consistory. The class of 1902 which was the semi-centennial class of Pennsylvania consistory, broke the previous records for size, but this year has passed even that mark.

A VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN OF VACCINATION WAGED

Pittsburgh Physicians Operated on Over 20,000 Persons This Week.

Over 10,000 persons have been vaccinated in South Side during this week. Supt. George W. Moore of the bureau of health, has three corps of physicians, of 12 members each, at work in three sections of the city. One corps is at work on the South Side, another in the Twenty-first ward and the third in the Seventh, Ninth, Eleventh and Fourteenth wards.

These physicians have been at work each day and 5,000 persons have been vaccinated in the Twenty-first ward. The physicians at work in the hill district have vaccinated about 8,000 persons.

The Leamington avenue school was fumigated last night. Three smallpox patients are pupils in the school. On Tuesday it was necessary to fumigate a room in the South Fifteenth street school on account of the attendance of a child from an infected home. A few days ago a suspected case was reported from the Mt. Washington school, but on investigation by the health bureau, the disease proved to be chicken pox.

Ten cases of smallpox were reported to the bureau of health yesterday as follows: Charles Roeheg, rear of No. 424 Cedar street; Joseph Roberts, Aliquippa street; William Gray, No. 303 Smallman street; Lizzie Mater, No. 3229 Wilmot street; Henry and William Blythe, No. 9 Bouquet street; Roland Glover, No. 2517 Wylie avenue; Clark Fleming, No. 10 Point View street; John Moody, rear of No. 4 Kirkpatrick street, and Thomas Blythe, No. 25 Boggs avenue.

HARRY MOORE MAKES JOB FOR A CITIZENS WORKER

John Bradley, Jr., operator in the bureau of fire, was discharged yesterday. No reason was given for his dismissal. Bradley is the son of John Bradley, the oil inspector, and has been connected with the bureau of fire for 11 years. He is a resident of the Thirty-second ward. His removal was political, as Director Moore has contended there were not enough positions for the Citizens party supporters without keeping Republicans in office.

CHILDREN ATTENDED SCHOOLMATE'S FUNERAL

Several hundred of the dead girl's schoolmates attended the funeral yesterday afternoon of Sarah A. Greenleaf, 6 years old, of No. 7066 Kelly street, who was killed Wednesday while going to the Homewood school. Services weer held at the Homewood Methodist Episcopal church. Handsome floral offerings were sent from different departments of the school and from many of the teachers. The pastor, the Rev. J. T. Pender, D. D., officiated at the services. Mrs. J. H. Harrison sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

LOOKED INTO IT.

Found What Coffee Was Quietly Doing.

A man made certain that coffee was the real cause of his kidney trouble and severe headaches. He says: "For 15 years I have been a coffee drinker and finally I proved to my own satisfaction that the abominable stuff not only started my kidney disease but was rapidly making me sick all over.

"My back used to pain and ache terribly and my wife was affected much the same way. A short time ago I became very ill. I ordered coffee banished from the house and began to drink Postum in its place.

"We all began to improve immediately and to feel as though we had taken a new lease on life. We kept on improving until Postum has made us well and healthy, where coffee made us sick. Our backaches are gone and other troubles too, thanks to Postum in place of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Coffee is a strong diuretic irritant and affects the kidneys in a great many cases where it is not even suspected. If you value health and a sound body the wise thing to do would be to quit coffee and give Postum a fair trial of say two weeks. There's a reason.

DIED MARTYRS TO THEIR DUTY

Gov. Chatterton Defends Sheriff Miller in the Recent Battle With Indians.

REDSKINS DEFIED THE LAW

Wyoming Chief Executive Makes Public the Result of His Investigations—He Claims the Indians Were at Fault and Demands a Fair Trial.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHEYENNE, WYO., Nov. 13.—In an interview tonight Gov. Chatterton made public the result of his investigations during his recent trip to Central Wyoming in regard to the responsibility for the Sioux outbreak.

The governor ascertained that shortly before the fight it was reported to Sheriff Miller at New Castle that a band of Sioux Indians were not only illegally hunting game along the border of Creston and Converse counties, but were also slaughtering the cattle of the ranchmen. These reports were so authentic that the sheriff organized a posse of 16 men and started in search of the Indians, meeting them on the dry fork of the Cheyenne river. When the officers first reached the Indian camp, the bucks were out hunting.

On their return, the sheriff demanded their surrender. Some of the Indians were willing to come in, but others were not, the latter saying they were under Charles Smith, or Eagle Feather, his Sioux name. Smith became defiant when the sheriff told him the Indians were violating the law, and replied that Miller had not enough men to take them.

He then ordered his party to break camp. As they started the sheriff and his party went with them for some distance, urging them to surrender and to submit to the law. Smith refused and the sheriff retired and added five ranchmen to his party. The sheriff's party again overtook the Indians on Lightning creek, the day after, about sunset. Demand was made on the Indians to halt and surrender. This was repeated three times, when the Sioux opened fire, the officers replying immediately. The Indians fled as soon as they saw that some of their party were shot.

The governor states there can be no question as to where the responsibility lies. The Indians were violating the laws of the state of Wyoming, knowingly and wilfully, and the murdered officers were martyrs to their duty. The governor declares that he would insist on a thorough trial, if for no other reason than to vindicate the dead officers and present their sacrifice in proper light before the people.

PERSONALS

A party of bankers of Nashville, Tenn., on a tour of inspection into the methods of conducting the financial institutions of the United States, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. In the party were M. U. Gardner, B. J. Hodge and J. T. Howell of Nashville. They were accompanied by Charles Williams of Chicago. They arrived early yesterday morning and immediately visited the principal banks. The party left last night for Philadelphia and before leaving Mr. Gardner said: "The banks of Pittsburgh were, indeed, a surprise to us. They are elegantly equipped and the system of booking is wonderful. Pittsburgh is a popular city, but its renown is due to its steel-producing capacity. We expected to find Pittsburgh a hive of industry, but not such financial institutions."

Registered at the Colonial is J. H. Johnston of Cleveland. Mr. Johnston is interested in politics and said: "It seems a foregone conclusion that Chicago will be selected for the Republican convention. The leading politicians say that St. Louis will be unable to accommodate such a large gathering on account of the fair. The defeat of Tom L. Johnson in my opinion will increase the strength of the Democrats in Ohio. One-half of the party had no use for him, and while he was in the harness the party was divided. His defeat means that a leader will be chosen who will control all the Democratic votes."

Dr. Robert Forbes of Philadelphia, who will occupy the pulpit in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow morning, is one of the most conspicuous men in Methodism. He is an orator of the cyclone order and never fails to please an audience. He will speak for the board of church extension. Dr. W. H. W. Rees, pastor of the church, who had been visiting his mother at Wilton, Ia., returned home yesterday and will introduce Dr. Forbes to the congregation.

J. B. Finley, ex-president of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company, will arrive at the Union station this morning with the body of his brother, R. F. Finley, who died at Des Moines, Ia., about 10 days ago. The funeral will be held this afternoon at Monongahela City.

E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Lines, left last night for Chicago on business. He said that passenger business would probably slacken up for a few weeks, but after the first of the year he expects travel to beat all past records.

JOHN S. SCULLY WILL NOT RE-ENTER BANKING

Former Head of the Diamond Banks Proposes to Avoid the Troubles of Executives.

John S. Scully, formerly president of the Diamond National bank and until a couple of weeks ago president of the Diamond Savings bank, set at rest last evening the current reports that he would return to the banking business as the head of a large new bank in this city. In denying the report Mr. Scully said:

"It is true that an excellent banking proposition was made to me, but I would not consider it. I am simply 'loafing' now, and I find it a delightful occupation. It has been a determination of mine for many years to quit work before I had to stop, and the opportunity came rather unexpectedly last winter, when a very satisfactory offer was made to me for my interest in the Diamond National. Recently I secured my own price for my holdings in the Diamond Savings, and I am now entirely out of the business."

The report had gained considerable headway that Mr. Scully planned to re-enter banking here. His marked success with the Diamond and his extensive financial interests gave plausibility to the rumor.

To care conveniently for the many matters needing their attention downtown, Mr. Scully, with his son, John S. Scully, Jr., who was cashier of the Diamond Savings and sold his interest at the same time with his father, have secured an office at 907 Tradesmens building. They will occupy their new office at once.

Mr. Scully's summer at Carlsbad has completely restored his health, which had been somewhat affected by the hard work of the last few years.

LECTURED ON AMERICA.

University Extension Society Begins Series of Meetings in West End.

The first of a series of six lectures under the direction of the University Extension society, West End Center, was given last evening by Prof. S. D. Fess of Chicago in the Stevens school, Main street. His subject was "Greater America: Steps Leading to Its Present Position." The speaker laid particular stress upon the great debate between Webster and Hayne, which took place in congress in 1830, on state's rights versus national rights.

All of the lectures deal with affairs of the nation. The lecture last night was to have been on "Growing Sectional Differences Between the North and South," but was changed for a later date.

Stole Free Tickets.

They broke into the Carnegie library and stole a quantity of the tickets and were securing books on them when detected and arrested by Manager W. M. Ballard. The boys will be given a hearing before Burgess John Molamphy this evening.

...RS WERE RUN BY NON-UNION MEN

... Police Protection Given Chicago Trolley Road Yesterday.

...OTHER COMPLICATION

... the Company Go on a ...ause It Refuses to Arbitrate ...nce of the Motormen and ...—Will Cripple the Road.

[...ATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.] ... Nov. 13.—Twenty-five cars ... the Wentworth avenue line, ...mage to the cars or injury to ...nion employes, was what the ... Street Railway Company was ...ccomplish today with the assist... the police department. The cars ... run at three different times, five ...ing the Seventy-seventh street barns ... 8:40 a. m., 10 leaving at 10:40 and 10 ... 3:30. In the first two runs the round trip was made in about three hours; in the third in about one and one-half hours.

While there was no active interference with the handling of the cars such as attended the attempts to run them yesterday, the crowds that lined the streets jeered and hooted the police and the non-union men almost without intermission. But two stones were hurled at the cars during the day, one being thrown by a woman who made her escape in the crowd before the police could reach her, and the other being thrown from the new postoffice building. Neither stone did damage.

At nightfall, the officials of the street car company were inclined to view the day's work as being satisfactory. They announce that cars would be run tomorrow on the Wentworth avenue line at the same hours as today, and that attempts would be made to operate other lines which, however, were not specified.

Shortly after this decision was announced the situation was complicated for the company by a sudden strike of the firemen employed in all six power houses owned by the company. The firemen's union made an agreement two days ago with the company which was to last for a year. There was a clause in the contract which gave the firemen the discretion to go on a sympathetic strike if the company declined to arbitrate with the employes now on strike.

The company explained its attitude on arbitration, and said that it had always been willing to arbitrate the question of wages. The firemen then signed the contract which was repudiated this evening. The officials of the firemen's union declared that they had ordered the strike because the company had declined their offer to mediate between the company and the employes now on strike.

The calling out of the firemen involves oilers, water tenders, coal passers, ash handlers and coal supply men, 250 in all. The real danger in this last strike lies in the attitude of the teamsters. They may decline to deliver coal to the company if non-union firemen are employed, and the company has but three days' supply on hand.

During the afternoon an effort was made to bring about a peaceful adjustment of the strike. The members of the state board of arbitration called upon Manager McCulloch and at his suggestion went into conference with E. R. Bliss, counsel for the company, with the hope of arranging a settlement or at least a conference between the strikers and the officials of the road. Nothing definite was accomplished at the conference, but another meeting has been arranged for tomorrow. After today's conference a member of the arbitration board said that the indications were that the management of the company would agree to arbitrate all the demands of the men with the exception of recognition of the union.

SHOT TWO POLICEMEN.

Washington Negro Who Held-Up Cashier Arrested After Hot Running Fight.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Charles Smith, an 18-year-old negro, tonight, about 8 o'clock went into a lunch room in G street, near the treasury department, and at the point of a pistol compelled the clerk to give him the money in the cash drawer, $28 in all. He then left, but the clerk blew a police whistle and with Officer Osborne, a crossing policeman, gave chase. The negro turned on his pursuers and shot the officer in the thigh, causing a compound fracture. Policeman Edwards then took up the pursuit, whereupon the negro again turned and fired, the bullet striking the policeman in the breast, but inflicting only a small bruise, owing to the presence of a newspaper and a book in the officer's coat pocket. The negro was arrested.

LITTLE RESULTS FOR DETECTIVES

Only One Arrest Made in the Two Latest of Allegheny County's Murders.

THREE SUSPECTS AT GLENFIELD

Disappearance of One Man Who Is Thought to Know Something of the Killing of Aged Farmer Bengele—Likely Met Death from Drunken Men.

The Allegheny county detective force was busy yesterday investigating the deaths of John Hagar, a negro, who was shot in Wilkins township, and Adolph Bengele, who was killed in Glenfield. Eugenio Seccia, an Italian, was arrested by Detectives John Roach and George Waggoner as a witness to the shooting of Hagar. He was proprietor of the Italian boarding house from where Hagar was shot.

No arrest was made in the Bengele case yesterday, but this morning it is expected two or three men will be taken into custody. There are three men suspected of having been implicated, but as the evidence against them is only circumstantial, the officers desired to make further investigation before placing them under arrest.

One of the suspects disappeared from his home yesterday before the arrival at Glenfield of Detectives John Roach, J. W. Reed, George Schad and R. L. McMillan.

The detectives believe Bengele was killed during a quarrel with some drunken men. The inquest was set for Wednesday.

The killing of Hagar was not without provocation, according to the investigation of Detectives Roach and Waggoner. Hagar, and George Stevens, now in jail as a witness to the murder, had a quarrel and Stevens beat Hagar considerably. The dead man went to Seccia's house and stoned the Italians because they would not aid him to overpower Stevens. Hagar is alleged to have thrown two large stones through the windows.

The Italians told him to leave the place or they would shoot. Hagar refused to go and one of the inmates of the house opened fire on him with a shotgun. Hagar was known to the Italians as a bad man, and they were afraid of him.

The detectives went to Seccia's house yesterday afternoon and questioned the inmates. Their stories were conflicting. Seccia bought a shotgun two weeks ago, but he told the detectives he had no idea where it is now. Besides the arrest of Seccia eight Italians were summoned to appear at the coroner's inquest Thursday.

Women Collectors Got Hearings.

Miss B. T. Redmond and Miss Effie Powell were given hearings before Magistrate Stewart yesterday morning. They were arrested by Detectives Wallace and Seifert at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street Thursday morning. The women were accused of collecting money from business men and hotel guests in the interests of an alleged mythical art school in New York. Miss Redmond was fined $50 and costs and Miss Powell was discharged with the understanding that she leave the city at once.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Cornelius Connell was granted a decree in the divorce suit against his wife.

Victoria D. Justice has filed a libel in divorce against William M. Justice, alleging desertion.

Trust Officer F. F. Brooks of the Colonial Trust Company, took out letters of administration on the estate of Charles H. Hartman, and Attorneys Langfitt and McIntosh represent the trust company.

Pellequino Yandiario has entered a $5,000 damage suit against Manrino Yandiario, alleging the defendant struck him over the head with an iron bar while they were at work in a brickyard, causing grave injuries.

In the equity proceedings of B. F. Lee and others against George Sherman and E. Walter Alderman, the court granted a preliminary injunction against the defendants, enjoining them from collecting rents from the 47 houses mentioned in the bill. The plaintiffs claim to have a mortgage on the property and that Sherman, who gave it, made arrangements about the property unsatisfactory to them, the plaintiffs.

The trial lists for next week include one murder charge and one case of alleged involuntary manslaughter. Edward Thomas is charged with the murder of Elmer N. Hart, who was shot at Blairsville, Pa., on June 3. His trial is set for Monday. Charles Groggins, who is charged with involuntary manslaughter, will be tried on Thursday. William Bliss died from a broken neck on September 12, at McKeesport, and it is alleged that he received his injuries in a fight with Groggins.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Columbia National Bank vs. R. H. Smith, $308 33; M. R. Trauerman vs. Mike Gusky et al, $100; The Westmoreland Guarantee Building & Loan association vs. Harry C. Wettengel, $4,082 12; J. N. and S. N. Waggoner, use, vs. Alex. M. George, $113 82; F. and C. Crittenden & Co. vs. Charles Roalman, $600 91; W. D. Strobel, Jr., vs. Benjamin F. Ripple, $420; Minnie S. Smith vs. E. W. Mandorff, $76; Bertha Esser vs. Ernest Kehrer, $669 15; Nelson, Morris & Co. vs. J. O. Habelsberger, $77.

In the equity proceedings of Elva Rollins against the Pittsburg, Carnegie & Western railroad, an action seeking to restrain the defendant company from entering upon her property near the point, the defendant has filed answer in which it alleges that the property was deeded subject to a right of way owned by the Pittsburgh & Mansfield Railway Company, which was subsequently obtained by the defendant company. The answer further alleges that the property was sold by William F. Aull, trustee, under other conditions, he acting beyond the scope of his authority.

In the matter of the commonwealth for use of Lillian Moore against Samuel F. O'Brien, the defendant has filed an answer. He says that the court made an order by which Frank E. O'Brien was to pay $1.50 a week for the support of their child and that one of the conditions of the order was that the father should have an opportunity to see the child when he cared to. The plaintiff, it is alleged, moved from the state, taking the child with her, and thus violated the terms and precluded any right to claim on the bond.

VENEZUELAN TRIBUNAL ADJOURNS SINE DIE

American Representatives Preparing to Return—Verdict Will Be Handed Down Later.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 13.—The Venezuelan arbitration tribunal adjourned sine die, the arguments having been concluded. The court will now consider its decision and will notify those interested the date of its delivery. The closing proceedings were brief.

Replying for the United States, Judge Penfield, solicitor of the state department, maintained that the blockading powers, in the protocol of February 13 abandoned all claim for privilege treatment. The United States, he declared, would remain faithful to the cause of arbitration, even though the decision rendered is unfavorable to America. Counsel was confident the tribunal's verdict would prove satisfactory to the conscience of the civilized world.

The tribunal announced that complete statements of claims might be deposited with the secretary general up to December 15 inclusive. Solicitor General Finlay thanked the court in behalf of all his colleagues, and the president, M. Muravieff, expressed his thanks to counsel for their assistance. He said they could depend on the court's best efforts to find a verdict in accordance with the law of equity.

United States Minister Bowen will go to London tomorrow and Judge Penfield will sail for the United States on November 18.

LOVE AND POVERTY THE CAUSE OF A SUICIDE

Young Man Kills Himself in Connellsville Hotel—Leaves Two Letters.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 13.—Roy L. Cridler of Piedmont, W. Va., committed suicide this afternoon in his room in the Trans-Allegheny hotel by firing two bullets through his right side, piercing his lung. Death resulted from hemorrhages. The man evidently shot himself several hours before he was found. A fellow boarder entered his room, next to Cridler's, and began reading. Hearing groans, he investigated and found Cridler lying upon his bed dying. Dr. H. F. Atkinson was called, but Cridler died in about 15 minutes.

Cridler was evidently in love as well as penniless. In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Shultz of the hotel he asks that his body be sent home immediately. On the letter was written, "All for the love of a little girl." In another letter lying upon his dresser, which bore the words, "open and read," he says:

"Please send a telegram to Miss Molly Teets and just say that he shot himself Friday, November 13, 1903, in care of David Luke, and send one to my sister, Miss Ella Cridler, Piedmont, W. Va., in care of C. C. Cridler." Cridler has been endeavoring to secure a revolver from several of his friends for a week past.

At noon today he entered Keiffer's barber shop and, after being shaved, said: "I am going to kill myself between 2 and 5 o'clock. Don't put powder on my face, because I don't want to go to heaven with it on." He has been employed at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad shops, but his wages were attached recently and he was in financial distress. He was about 25 years old.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 13.—Roy E. Jacobs, secretary of the Builders' Exchange and one of the best known young men in the city, this morning committed suicide by shooting himself in the heart. He had been talking with a brother and Contractor A. W. Young, in the office of the exchange and was remarking about not feeling well.

"I don't remember anything since I was talking with you yesterday," he said.

Then he went into his private office and shot himself. The young man had been suffering from tumor for some time, having undergone several operations. He was about to undergo another operation and it is thought that this was the cause of his rash act. Jacobs was 25 years old and six years ago he enlisted in the heavy artillery, serving three years in the Philippines. He returned home three years ago from the Philippines and became secretary of the Builders' Exchange, proving a valuable man. He was a son of L. J. Jacobs, court constable.

COKE OPERATORS FEAR REDUCTION OF PRICES

Low-Water Mark Reached in Production—Frick Company Forced Into Market.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 13.—The tide in the coke trade touched the low-water mark last week. The 2,000 ovens banked the week previous were all drawn, but over 4,000 ovens at other points were banked and production dropped down to 110,000 tons, a decrease of nearly 30,000 tons, the lowest week's record reported since 1893. Orders for banking 1,500 ovens in the region have been issued this week. The production last week was scarcely 45 per cent of the capacity of the region and the heavy blow-out this week will probably reduce production to less than 40 per cent, or considerably less than 100,000 tons.

There is a general effort on the part of the operators to restrict production in the hope that prices may be maintained at the present rates. The operators declare they have reached rock-bottom prices for coke on the present wage basis, and if prices are forced lower they will be compelled to order a general reduction. Uncertainty prevails among all the independent producers, both large and small, over the action of the H. C. Frick Coke Company entering the general market. None of the operators are willing to give an opinion upon the effect this action will produce in the coke business.

Their only hope is keeping the prices firm against the big corporation, thereby giving the smaller operators the same chance to compete for trade on a falling market. The summary of the region for the week is as follows:

With the 22,597 ovens in the region 14,586 were active and 8,009 were idle; 4,070 ovens banked, however, and not producing coke. Of the 75 active plants in the region last week 32 plants, 4,841 ovens, made six days; 30 plants, 5,525 ovens, made five days; one plant, 50 ovens, the Semet Solvay by-product plant, seven days, and 10 plants, 4,070 ovens, banked, making an average run of 5.22 days, as compared to 4.93 days the week previous.

The production of the region in tons for the week amounted to 110,322, as compared to 138,006 tons the week previous, a decrease of 27,724 tons. The shipments of coke from the region in cars amounted to 5,711 cars, as compared to 7,610 cars the week previous, a decrease of 99 cars.

The shipments for the week were distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river points, 2,710 cars, an increase of 32 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 1,765, a decrease of 935 cars; to points east of Everson, 1,235 cars, a decrease of 56 cars. The shipments in tons, estimated upon reports received from shipping points, amounted to 127,972 tons, as compared to 150,268 tons the week previous, a decrease of 22,226 tons. The shipments from the new Mazontown field amounted to 552 cars, as compared to 690 cars the week previous, a decrease of 138 cars. The shipments in tons estimated at 15,156 tons, as compared to 19,220 tons the week previous, a decrease of 4,046 tons.

BRISTOL, ENGLAND, [illegible] mier Balfour was the prin[illegible] at a dinner here tonight in [illegible] the anniversary of the birth [illegible] Colson, the philanthropist, [illegible] himself principally to the [illegible] tion but did not advance any [illegible] ments.

A new situation, said the premier, had arisen since the present fiscal policy of the British empire had been established and further developments of world conditions were sure to follow. It seemed to him little short of lunacy not only if they did not face the situation, but if they did not prepare themselves for the dangers which wer[illegible]

Sir Michael Hick[illegible] premier. The appe[illegible] chancellor of the ex[illegible] platform with and in support of Mr. Balfour, although he had declared himself a free trader, created considerable interest and curiosity. Sir Michael explained his attitude by accepting as the true diagnosis Mr. Balfour's belief that the present government has still two or three years of life, during which much useful work was possible, and by admitting that great injury had been done to British trade by the protectionist policies of foreign countries.

He was prepared, he said, to accept the policy of Mr. Balfour laid down by the premier's speech at Sheffield. He was opposed to both illegitimate cheapness and illegitimate dearness through the operations of tariffs and trusts, but he favored the securing and the maintaining of natural cheapness. Sir Michael thought the government ought to be armed with the weapons of retaliation. If the choice was to be between standing on old lines, or changing the fiscal policy, he favored the latter.

The contention of the Unionist party was not the unauthorized program which he had steadfastly opposed, but the policy of the premier, and he thought that they should now patiently await the government's proposals and strive for unity.

On his arrival at Bristol today, Premier Balfour was presented with an address of welcome, in reply to which he declared it was "the intention of the government in the face of all the difficulties raised by the opponents of the proposed new fiscal policy, which necessitated new conditions under which the industries of the country would be carried on, to pursue the path he had marked out, 'not to be bound by worn-out formulas which had a meaning and reality 60 years ago but whose meaning and reality had been changed by the changing circumstances of time.'"

This clothing store gets the business—because it deserves it

The argument Kaufmann's great Clothing Store sets forth for your favor is two-fold—quality and economy; both in their most intrinsic sense. From the point of quality Kaufmann's Clothing is non-betterable; you who have worn it know that. Quality with "The Big Store" implies a great deal; the worthfulness of the fabrics, the neatness and refinement of patterns, the excellence of style, the perfection of all details and above all, character and individuality. Biggest Crowd in History of Park Will See Shadyside and High School Play.

THE OFFICIALS ARE CHOSEN

The interscholastic football championship of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia will be decided this afternoon at Friendship park. The Shadyside academy eleven, holder of the title, will meet the Pittsburgh High school team in their annual contest, and the winner will be well qualified to take the honor.

That the contest will be one of the hardest fought these prep. schools ever engaged in there is no doubt, and the attendance at this game will surely beat all previous records. Every seat in the grand stand has been disposed of, as well as the bleachers on the east side, which are reserved by the Shadyside contingent. Nearly all the seats on the new west side bleachers have been taken by the High school alumni, and the outlook late last night was that the person who came late would have to stand. There will be no room for carriages, automobiles and traps, and the announcement has been made that they are not wanted at the park.

Both teams are in the best of condition. The only man on either team who is not in the pink of condition is George Campbell, center on the High school team, but he will be in the game. Campbell has been under the care of a physician for the past week. Schmidt, the tackle who has been under the ban of the High school faculty, has been reinstated and will be in the game.

Both teams practiced yesterday. The Shadyside coaches put their men through hard signal work, while Coach James had the High school players in scrimmages, and it was a tired bunch that crawled out of Friendship park at the conclusion of the practice.

Prof. Cooper, who has been superintending affairs at the park, has all the seats up and has made arrangements for a police lieutenant and 12 officers to be at the side lines. There will be no side line privileges save to reporters and scrubs.

The officials will be Dr. William Farrar, umpire, and Ed Cramer of Greensburg, referee. Coaches Young and Shetter of Shadyside and Prof. Cooper of High school had a long and heated argument in making the selection, and it was not until last evening that they arrived at a conclusion satisfactory to both sides. The game will be called at 2:30.

A local shoe merchant has notified Prof. Cooper that the best pair of shoes in his shop will be given the player making the greatest number of points in the game. The lineup at the beginning of the game is shown in a box elsewhere on this page.

There will be a good game on the Bluff this afternoon between the East End Lyceum and Pittsburgh college teams. The line up:

MICHIGAN IS PREPARED FOR WISCONSIN ELEVEN

Meet Today at Ann Arbor in "Rubber" Game, Each Having Won Two.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Nov. 13.—Michigan's poor showing against the Ohio State university aggregation on Ferry field last Saturday, in which the Buckeyes kept the Wolverines from crossing their goal-line during the second half, did much to waken the team from the semi-comatose state in which the Minnesota arguments had left it. Coach Yost appreciated the situation very keenly and immediately upon his return from witnessing the Wisconsin-Oshkosh game took drastic measures to get his pupils into shape for the Badgers tomorrow.

Daily scrimmages of the fiercest sort have been the feature of this week's practice. "Never before," said Assistant Coach McGugin, "have the men been subjected to such strenuous work." The scrubs daily line up on the varsity's 10-yard line, and at once proceed to hammer the line with Wisconsin formations. During the first part of the week these worked admirably against the regular defense, and on Monday the reserves scored six touchdowns in 40 minutes. The varsity forwards seem to have had much trouble in solving the Badger plays, and on very few occasions were more than three downs necessary to make five yards. However, by Thursday the men were well on to the Wisconsin plays, which proved futile.

Special instructions were also given by Coach Yost in reference to meeting Wisconsin's plunging back field. Quarterback James sustained a sprained wrist in the O. S. U. contest, and, while the injury is not severe, it has nevertheless kept him out of this week's scrimmage. The balance of the squad are in prime condition.

That the Wisconsin game will be a battle daily becomes more evident. The stories from Madison telling of accidents to star players and poor physical condition of the team have [...]

ALLEGHENY HIGH SCHOOL BEATS BRADDOCK ELEVEN

Youngsters from Across River Get Two Touchdowns to Opponents' One.

The Allegheny High school team defeated the Braddock High school at North End park yesterday in a clean and interesting game, 12 to 6. Allegheny kicked off to Braddock and held for downs. Allegheny then got the ball and never lost it until it made its first touchdown by line bucks and end runs by McNair. The whistle blew just as McKeown kicked goal.

In the second half Braddock played a strong game. It kicked off and held for downs. Braddock then made a touchdown by straight hard bucks. Allegheny kicked again and held for downs. Runs by Miller, McNair and McKeown brought the ball to Braddock's 15-yard line. McKeown then tried a place kick for goal, but failed. Braddock got the ball out of bounds and fumbled, it rolling between the goal posts, and Elliot fell on it, making Allegheny's second touchdown. McKeown kicked goal. The features were the punting of Chatham and the work of McNair, McKeown, Miller and Elliot for Allegheny and Gardner and Fonker for Braddock.

FRED SCOTT DECISION UPHELD IN HICK'S CASE

Turfman Fighting Over Posession of Colored Jockey in Supreme Court—Decision Reserved.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In the legal fight over Wallace Hicks, the negro jockey, the supreme court was today called on to uphold the famous Dred Scott decision of ante bellum days and not to permit negro slavery in the state of New York.

The alleged attempt to hold young Hicks in so-called slavery came before the court on the return of an order issued recently by Justice McCall at the instance of Ernest V. Reiss, representing Hicks' father, commanding Alphonse J. Plicque, a horse trainer and owner of race horses, to show good cause why he should not be compelled to "forthwith deliver Wallace Hicks, a minor," to Reiss. It was opposing this surrender of Hicks that Mr. Page, counsel for Plicque, asserted that by a certain contract, entered into by the boy's father, Atimore Hicks, a negro of the parish of Lafourche, La., an attempt was made to sell the boy into slavery.

In his petition Reiss set forth the contract which Lawyer Page said was in effect no more than a sale of the boy into a state of slavery and that the "pretended contract of apprenticeship" is illegal under the law of Louisiana, which forbids any contract of apprenticeship to extend beyond the age of 18 years for male persons.

Reiss next set forth that the earnings of the boy as a jockey were in excess of $10,000 a year, and that Plicque only paid the elder Hicks $40 for each three months of the boy's services. Mr. Page, in opposing the surrender of the boy said that he was not deprived of his liberty. He said that the jockey voluntarily remained with Plicque, who, he said, was a man of high standing in his profession.

In an affidavit Wallace Hicks, the jockey, said that Plicque [...]

MINOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE WAS FORMED

This Will Take the Place of the Old Junior League and Will Have Six Strong Teams.

The Allegheny County Minor Basketball league was formed last night at a meeting at Luckhardt's. The league will be composed of Manchester Juniors, South Side Juniors, Lyceum Juniors, Mt. Oliver, Sterlings and Allegheny Lyceum Juniors. The league will take the place of last year's Junior league and will go under the name of the Allegheny County Minor league. J. W. Luckhardt was elected president and Evan Roberts, secretary and treasurer.

This league will be composed of all players not in the major league, with no restrictions as to age or weight. Mr. Luckhardt, who so successfully piloted the junior and major leagues of last year, promises to give the boys an interesting race.

There promises to be all kinds of excitement on the South Side tonight, when the crack East Liverpool team opens the basketball season at Odd Fellows hall with the champion South Side team. The East Liverpool team has made quite a reputation the last two years, administering defeat to everything coming their way, Manchester and Carnegie, two of the leading teams in the Allegheny County league, falling before them last year, and they are confident they can give the South Side passers the same dose.

One-half will be played under A. A. U. rules and the other under National rules. George Agnew, one of the league referees, will be South Side's official. Police Magistrate Vitchestain of the South Side will make a short address before the game. Following will be the lineup:

GREAT RALLY OF WHITE RIBBONS

Opening of the W. C. T. U. Convention Attended by Five Hundred Delegates.

MANY REPORTS RECEIVED

President Stevens in Her Annual Address Discussed the Increase of Drink Habit Among Women—Big Gains in the Cause of Temperance Reported.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 13.—The opening session of the thirtieth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held here today, 500 delegates being in attendance. The convention will extend over a period of six days and an elaborate program of work has been mapped out.

There was a "purity conference" preceding the convention under the leadership of Mrs. Helen L. Bullock. It was addressed by Mrs. C. E. Hunt of Illinois, Mrs. Frances W. Graham of New York and Mrs. E. L. Stevens of Pennsylvania.

The Ninth street Baptist church was crowded when President Mrs. Lillian Stevens called the convention to order, and after the roll call and other preliminary exercises the president delivered her annual address. She gave a comprehensive resume of the battle for temperance in the United States and England, and while admitting defeat in New Hampshire and Vermont, through "a combination of political trickery and the unstinted work of the liquor fraternity," the claim was made that the cause of temperance was gaining in every section. In closing President Stevens said:

Drinking Among Women.

The question, "Is liquor drinking among women increasing?" is hard to answer. We surely hear more about drinking women than formerly, perhaps from the fact that the drinking habit attracts more attention than it did in the days when nearly everyone used liquor in one form or another. Speaking of intemperance among women and that much of it comes through the use of alcohol in medicine, Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to the king of England, is reported to have said: "The only remedy for the evil is total abstinence; half-and-half measures are useless; we must banish alcohol entirely."

Since "nothing can arrest the progress of a true principle on its way to the hearts of intelligent people," it would be strange if we could not declare, as we can, that the question of the equality of women "under [illegible] and under the law," is gaining [illegible] new adherents. There is a [illegible]sing number of women [illegible]ed in regard to the legisla[illegible] all the people, whether or not an[illegible] his to be so.

There is a proportionately large number of men who acknowledge the justice of the equality of the sexes in all of those matters which pertain to the interests dear to women's hearts, those interests which are connected with the home, the church, the school, the state and the nation. As temperance women, we desire the right of franchise because we believe we could, thus armed, deal more effectually with the liquor problem, and the fact that the liquor element is always opposed to woman's suffrage furnishes ample proof that we are right in our belief.

Big Gains Shown.

The report of Mrs. Susan M. D. Fry, the corresponding secretary, contained the following:

The national organizers report 382 unions organized, with 9,517 members. This does not include the work of state or local organizers. The receipts of the Willard memorial fund were $4,1?8. A larger number of Women's Christian Temperance union institutes were held during the past year than ever before. Eleven states have made a gain of 500 or over new members above all losses, and some of them well on toward 2,000 new members, which goes to prove that the Women's Christian Temperance union is marching on with a regular and measured swing. Thirty-two other states report an increase of membership.

The report of Mrs. H. M. Barker, the treasurer showed the gain in membership for the year was 6,954. The total receipts were $26,177, and the expenditures $25,399, the balance on hand being $778.

On motion of Mrs. Marie C. Brehn, of Chicago, the American flag was adopted for the official salute, instead of the "unhygienic use of handkerchief," and a committee was appointed to secure the flag. Addresses were made by Dr. W. F. Crafts, of Washington, Miss Emma Alexander, and others.

Many Reports Received.

Mrs. Helen G. Rice, in reporting as general secretary of the Loyal Temperance legion, introduced prominent workers from different states to show what was being done by the branch. Among the superintendents reporting on their departments were Miss Esther Pugh of Ohio, on "Proportionate and Systematic Giving;" Mrs. Evelyn M. Graham, of Maryland, on "Work Among Railroad Employes;" Mrs. Ella M. Thacher of New Jersey, on "Work Among Soldiers and Sailors;" Mrs. Emma W. Shores of Wisconsin, on "Work Among Miners."

Mrs. Frances W. Leiter, national superintendent of physical education, conducted exercises with the audience. Banners were awarded to the different states showing the best results in these departments. Welcome addresses were delivered tonight by representatives of the city government, local churches, state and local branches of the W. C. T. U., and other organizations, with responses by Mrs. Stevens, of Maine; Mrs. Emma Burne of New Jersey; Mrs. C. H. Howe of Missouri and others.

An overflow meeting was conducted in another church by the Rev. Anna Shaw, of Pennsylvania.

PURITY IN BUTTER.

A New Standard of Excellence That Draws the Line Between Purity and Cleanliness.

It is only a few years since "purity" and "cleanliness" conveyed virtually the same meaning to the minds of most people as applied to butter or the place of the manufacture. That this is the case to a certain extent is true, for "cleanliness" is next to "Godliness" anywhere, but in the case of milk and milk products, especially butter, the mere mechanical removal or prevention of foreign matter is only half way to perfection. Pure butter, in the broadest sense of the term, can be obtained in only one way—by thoroughly Pasteurizing the cream from which it is manufactured.

By this process the cream is heated to a temperature just below the boiling point and held there until germ life of every form is destroyed. It is then cooled to 45 degrees, which temperature is too low to permit any bacterial growth whatever.

The Continental Creamery Company, whose "Meadow-Gold" butter is well known in this market, have one of the most complete Pasteurizing plants in existence. As employed in their creameries, the process not only prevents any possible bacterial contamination, but also destroys the "grassy" taste and flavor of garlic that cannot be avoided in any other way.

The time will come when butter manufactured by any other process will be regarded much as oleomargarine is today. In the meantime, those who enjoy the perfect purity of Meadow Gold Butter are indeed wise in their genera[tion].

Cornerstone Laying.

The corner stone of the Reformed Church of the Ascension will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The services will be an unique one in that the walls of the church are almost entirely up and ready for the roof. When the foundations of the church were ready for the laying of the corner stone a few months ago it was found some mistake had been made in the work and the walls had to be torn down. After that, however, the work proceeded rapidly, and the pastor of the church, the Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, decided to have the walls almost completed, leaving a place for the insertion of the corner stone.

Mr. Dieffenbach will have charge of tomorrow's service, and the address will be made by the Rev. J. Grant Walter, of St. Mark's Memorial Reformed church, East End.

At Grace Reformed church, Dithridge and Bayard streets, next Monday night there will be a mass meeting of the congregations of the Reformed church of Pittsburgh and vicinity. The addresses will be made by the Rev. David S. Schaff, of the Western Theological seminary. A special musical program will be given by the Grace church choir, and the speaker will be introduced by the pastor, the Rev. John H. Prugh, D. D.

The First Presbyterian church, of Rennerdale, Pa., will be dedicated tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services will be held in the new building, State and Columbia avenues. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Alexander Gilchrist, D. D., of Pittsburgh. The pastor of the new church is the Rev. W. R. Jamison.

Anniversary Celebration.

The tenth anniversary of the organization of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, Hamilton and Tinsbury streets, Allegheny, will be celebrated tomorrow. The services will be in charge of the Rev. William H. Nicholas, the pastor. In the morning at 10:45 o'clock a sermon will be delivered by the Rev. E. J. Wolf, D. D., of the theological seminary at Gettysburg and president of the general synod. Before the Sunday school at 2:30 o'clock, addresses will be made by Charles F. Stifel, J. Walter Hay and Fred W. Kiefer. The Rev. S. T. Nicholas, missionary president of the Pittsburgh synod, who organized Grace church and was its pastor for nine years, will occupy the pulpit in the evening.

Special religious services will begin tomorrow at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Buena Vista street, Allegheny, the Rev. T. Ross Paden, pastor. These meetings will continue every evening for two weeks, and will be conducted by the Rev. Cyrus B. Hatch of Crafton. The Rev. Hugh S. Shaw will conduct the music. These services are but the first of a series planned by the ministers of Allegheny which will culminate in a united evangelistic campaign of all denominations toward the latter part of this winter.

The fourth lecture of the present course of Sunday services before the Reform congregation Rodeph Shalom, Eighth street, below Penn avenue, will be given tomorrow morning by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy. The subject of his address will be "What All the World's a'Seeking." Service begins at 10:30 o'clock. M. A. Gietzen of the Pittsburgh orchestra will perform some violin solos during the service.

The Rev. W. B. Slutz, D. D., will give his popular Chautauqua lecture at the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, of which he is the pastor, next Tuesday night. The topic is "A Well Poised Gentleman."

The Rev. A. B. Riter, D. D., will preach both morning and evening tomorrow at Union Methodist Episcopal church, Manhattan street and Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny. Dr. Riter has been president of Mt. Union college, Alliance, O., for the past five years and was formerly pastor of important churches in Wheeling and in Ohio. He has preached in Pittsburgh before, appearing once during the recent conference at Emory church. He delivered a lecture on "The Office of Culture in Modern Civilization" at Union church last June.

TRUCE IN COAL STRIKE

Part of the Western Miners Get Temporary Settlement of Their Demands.

LOUISVILLE, COL., Nov. 13.—As a result of the concession of an eight-hour day by the operators of the striking miners in the northern coal fields will return to work Monday morning. This was practically demanded at a conference here this afternoon between the operators and a committee representing all of the unions in the district.

The operators agreed to grant an eight-hour day pending the settlement of the strike in the southern coal fields, on the condition that if the strike terminated without granting an eight-hour day by the southern operators, the men would be put back to work on a nine-hour basis in the northern coal fields.

Government Monopolizes Tobacco.

LIMA, PERU, Nov. 13.—The finance minister has presented to congress a project for a state monopoly of the sale of tobacco, in the meantime impressing an extra duty on raw foreign tobacco of $2 per quintal, and $250 per quintal on manufactured tobacco from the first of January next.

SOCIETY.

THE reception given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Miers Busch Cain by Mrs. Cain, Mrs. Richard Biddle Faulkner and Mrs. William Herron Cain was a large and handsome affair. The honor guest was Miss Henriette Frances Cordier, whose marriage to William Johnston Lucas of Las Vegas, N. M., will take place on November 20 at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McDonald of South Fairmont street, East End.

The three hostesses had for their assistants yesterday afternoon Mrs. W. E. Parker of Bellevue, Mrs. W. H. Neeley, Mrs. Henry Braun, Mrs. Robert A. McDonald, Mrs. David Scott, Mrs. James S. Phillips, Mrs. Ella Morgan Mulvey, Mrs. Emma Miller, Mrs. Nix, Miss Cordier, Miss Lambert, Miss Alice Kauffmann, Miss Rebecca Lambert, Miss Ella McElveen, Miss Emma Cain and Miss Wallace.

Mrs. Cain received in a gown of white swiss, with trimmings of valenciennes lace, Mrs. Faulkner wearing the same; Mrs. William Cain, brown crepe, trimmed with ecru lace, and the honor guest a gown of pale blue taffeta, with white lace trimmings. The hours were from 3 until 5 o'clock, and the decorations were exceptionally beautiful. The dining room was done in yellow chrysanthemums, a huge cluster of the blossoms occupying the center of the table. White chrysanthemums were seen in the red hall, where the lights had dainty shades of the same color. Pink carnations and roses decked the drawing room, and a quantity of asparagus was used throughout. Mrs. E. H. Myers of Summerlea street will entertain at cards for Miss Cordier this afternoon, and on Tuesday next Mr. and Mrs. David McNaughter of Lafayette street, Allegheny, give a dinner for Miss Cordier and her fiance, Mr. Lucas.

This is the subject of a lecture to be given by James Stephen Martin in the lecture hall of the Carnegie Institute next Wednesday evening. The talk will occupy about 20 minutes, and will be followed by a musical program. The vocal numbers will be interspersed with remarks pretinent to each by Mr. Martin. A Future Event.

Miss Ella McElveen of Woodlawn avenue has cards out for a reception on Friday next in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gilbert McElveen, and of Miss Lyda Cochran, a bride-elect. The hours will be from 3 until 5 o'clock and Miss McElveen will be assisted by Miss Jeannette Pontefract, Miss Jane Murdoch, Miss Anne Risher, Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Jane McElveen and Mrs. Robert Linton, the latter two being sisters of the hostess.

Mrs. McElveen was Miss Edna Muriel Case, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Case of Denver, Col., where her marriage with Mr. McElveen took place on October 20. Mr. McElveen and his bride are spending a portion of their honeymoon in Pittsburgh. The length of their stay has not been decided upon. Miss Cochran, the other honor guest, will on November 25, Thanksgiving eve, wed Maurice Sherrard. The wedding is to be a small event at the home of the bride in Neville street.

Mrs. Stone Goes to Washington.

Mrs. William A. Stone left for Washington last evening. Mrs. Stone, while in the capital city, will be the guest of Mrs. Percy Hickling, and will be absent for several days, probably visiting the horse show in New York before her return. During the years of their official life in Washington and later in Harrisburg, Mrs. Stone had at-home days, and intends to keep up the custom in Pittsburgh. Yesterday she received a number of her friends informally. Miss Alice Negley poured tea. Mrs. Stone had wished to give a tea in honor of Mrs. Hermanus Baer, who was Miss Mabel McKinley, but owing to the matinee both afternoon and evening, the plan was abandoned. Mrs. Abner McKinley, her mother, is not now in the city, having left it some days ago. The Stones have leased a house in Murray Hill avenue, where they will reside for a year at least.

In Honor of Two Cousins.

Miss Franciscus and her sister, Miss Catherine Franciscus of Philadelphia were honor guests at a very informal little tea given yesterday by Miss Schwartz of Penn avenue, their cousin, whom they are visiting. The guests included only the most intimate friends of the hostess, who was assisted by her two sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Black and Mrs. George Griscom, and a few friends.

There were very simple decorations in the fine old home standing far back from the avenue. The house is almost the exact copy of the former family home in Allegheny, where the hostess of yesterday was born. In the dainty drawing room, with its pale green walls and pretty little white fireplace, was a large vase of American Beauties.

The "Old Girls" Entertain.

Fun and merrymaking ran riot at the Pennsylvania College for Women last evening, when the "old girls" acted as hostesses for the new students. "Panic," a game recently introduced, was the chief amusement of the evening. The game is compared to the stock exchange and a decidedly noisy evening was spent by the girls, until the 10 o'clock bell rang, silencing all, and giving the signal for good nights.

Ceremonies and Myths of the Indians.

Miss Alice Fletcher of Washington, D. C., will be in Pittsburgh in December to speak before the Academy of Science and Art on the "Religious Beliefs of the Indians," illustrated from their rituals, ceremonies and myths. Miss Fletcher has spoken in Pittsburgh several times, appearing first in a drawing room at Lyndhurst, when she was the guest of Mrs. William Thaw. She has given many years to the study of the Indians, their customs and their ceremonials, and when in Pittsburgh before talked on Indian music, which she has resolved to a written form, claiming for it rhythm. Her talk was illustrated with the plaintive songs of the Indian women, the warlike songs of the braves and the mournful music of the funeral songs.

Miss Fletcher's lecture before the Academy of Science and Art will be delivered in the lecture room of Carnegie Institute on Thursday evening, December 3.

Woman's Club of Carnegie Met.

The Woman's club of Carnegie met yesterday afternoon in the club room in the Carnegie library. Mrs. W. J. Glenn, the president, conducted the meeting. The literary program was in charge of Mrs. James R. Bell. The subject for the afternoon was "The Army," continuing the study of American history which the club has undertaken this year. The exercises opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the club members. A paper on the "Birth of the American Army" was read by Mrs. J. A. Clark. Mrs. W. H. Lea told of the winter at Valley Forge. A general discussion of the papers followed. Miss Stella Moore read a paper on current events. A musical program was furnished by one of the club members, Miss Ella Perrin, a student of the New England Conservatory of Music. A social hour closed the afternoon, during which time tea was served by the social committee.

Lectures Before the Academy.

In pursuance of its purpose to interest the public of this vicinity in the application of scientific principles to everyday life, the Academy of Science and Art announces a lecture next Thursday evening by William Metcalf, formerly president of the Engineers' society of Western Pennsylvania. Other lectures before the Academy will include one by Prof. Frederick Gowing of Boston, Mass., who will speak before the Pedagogical section next Tuesday evening in the lecture room on "The Problem of School Education." How many mothers realize that when the baby's advent is expected they need strength for two instead of one. Women, weak, nervous, "just able to drag around," find themselves confronted with coming maternity. They have not strength enough for themselves, how can they have strength to give a child? We don't look for the birth of strong ideas from a weak mind. Why should we expect the birth of strong children from weak mothers?

The way to ensure health and strength to mother and child is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a preparative for motherhood. It brings the mother's strength up to the requirements of nature, so that she has strength to give her child. It nourishes the nerves and so quiets them. It encourages a natural appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. Robert Harden, of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 235. "It was when her baby came. We had heard so much of your medicine that my wife decided to try it (I may say my wife's age was thirty-three and this was her first child). She commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' five months before her child was born. We have a fine healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription,' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it wherever we can."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Creamy Bread

Tekla Bread shows its nutritive value in creaminess of color; in the satisfaction it gives when eaten alone; in ease of digestion. Tekla Bread is so good because all the grain is selected and blended to produce this rich creamy effect; the flour passes a rigid inspection for a definite quality; the mixing is done in machines that do the work like hand labor, but do it all so that nothing impure can get in.

Farms.

MUST SACRIFICE.

I have the finest location in the east for a poultry or truck farm; we spent ten weeks in- specting the country before selecting this loca- tion, and know it is an ideal place for anyone to raise poultry, truck or fruit or who should live in the country for his health. Good gun- ning, fresh and salt water, fishing, etc. The locality is inhabited by business and profes- sional men and up-to-date farmers, and affords social and other advantages of the most select suburban neighborhood. It is noted for its beau- ty and healthfulness. On account of the death of my husband it is impossible for me to make the quarterly payments and pay the small bal- ance due on the property. It contains 20 acres and cost us $800, most of which has been paid. I will sell all or part or will exchange for building lot or any other property if other party will make remaining quarterly payments, or I will pay liberal interest to anyone who will lend me enough to pay the balance due on property. This is a chance for some one to get a nice property very cheap, as this place is now worth $1,200, and I could easily get that if I had a little time, but I must sell at once, as I will lose all I have paid if quarterly pay- ment is not made soon. I will consider any reasonable offer for sale or exchange if made at once. Address G 68, The Gazette.

200 ACRES in Washington county, at station; 30 miles from Pittsburgh, level, bottom and rolling land, 75 acres of drift coal; buildings good; a desirable farm; the owner a non-resi- dent; will exchange for city property; price $12,000; good value.

MUCH BETTER TONE TO EASTERN STOCKS

Pennsylvania and the Steel Issues Rallied and the General Market Closed at the Best—Gold Arrives and More Engaged.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The course of the eastern stock market yesterday tended to prove that much of the recent pressure has been due to "bear" tactics. There was also evidence that the market is largely oversold, and if the rally could be sustained for three or four days a "bear" panic would be the result. The tone of the market at the opening was firmer, and London was a moderate buyer. The "bears" resumed their attack upon Pennsylvania, but succeeded in depressing it to only 111¼, from which point there was a quick recovery. Baltimore & Ohio, Reading and other members of the Pennsylvania group also displayed good resistance to the selling pressure, and the "bears" turned their attention to other parts of the list. St. Paul, which is not only a pivotal stock, but is looked upon as the guage of Rockefeller sentiment, was then taken in hand, but it yielded less than 2 per cent and quickly recovered when the pressure was removed. The Steel stocks were also firmer, the common opening higher at 10⅝, the preferred at 51½ and the new bonds at 65¾. These were practically the lowest prices of the day. Amalgamated Copper was forced down from 38½ to 37¼, and Sugar declined a point to 115½. There was an entire absence of liquidation, however, and when the professionals who were working for lower prices ceased their operations, the market simply became dull. This period of dullness continued for about an hour around midday. From that time to the close of the market there was a steady recovery throughout the list. Pennsylvania led the railroad ...

... amounting to about $500,000 were announced. It was stated that the Bank of England had refused to sell any more bar gold at the quoted price, but this will not check purchases of American eagles and English sovereigns, which are certain to be made if the present foreign trade movement is maintained. The favorable change in the latter is likely to increase rather than diminish, because imports of merchandise will tend to fall off, while exports of iron and steel seemed to be assured in the near future.

Call loan rates ruled at 5 to 4 per cent, and time loans were unchanged. The preliminary estimates of the movement of money foreshadowed a better bank statement than was expected earlier in the week. The amount of gold that has arrived and will be counted in the bank statement is not large, but the shipments of currency to the interior were less than half the total for last week or the week before. The net decrease in cash from all sources was estimated at about $4,000,000, as compared with nearly $10,000,000 last week. If there should be a decrease in loans commensurate with that reported last Saturday, the surplus reserve may remain intact. At all events there is an absence of apprehension regarding the outlook for the money market. No further bank troubles have appeared at interior cities where currency was being accumulated a few weeks ago to guard against the unexpected, and the funds so accumulated will be the first to flow back to New York. Business requirements are also lighter, and the liquidation in the stock market must certainly be nearly completed.

The only prominent feature on the Pittsburgh stock exchange was the weakness in National Fire Proofing. The common stock sold down to 6, the lowest ever quoted, and 2 points below the close ... [illegible]

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $6,262,048, a decrease of $375,000.

Stock market closed firmer. Sales 5,232 shares stock and $5,000 bonds.

National Fire Proofing common broke to 6 and the preferred to 20.

Steel stocks were firmer, United States preferred rallying to 52⅛.

Philadelphia Company common declined to 36¼ and recovered to 35½.

Westinghouse Air Brake rallied to 131 and Electric to 67⅞.

IN WALL STREET.

Professionals turned their attention to St. Paul and forced it to a loss of 1⅞.

Total sales of St. Paul were 62,100 shares.

Late covering permitted these securities to recover the loss, close being 136.

Pennsylvania rallied from its recent depression on sales of 169,170 shares and registered a gain of two points.

Bonds were rather dull, but firm; total sales par value being $1,867,000.

Small lots of gold were engaged in London for import.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The sales of Pennsylvania Railroad stock on the New York board yesterday reached 169,000 shares, while the dealings in United States Steel preferred were only 33,000 shares. The former continued to lead the railroad list in point of activity, but Steel preferred gave way to Amalgamated Copper, the sales of which approximated 37,000 shares. Wall street sentiment is bullish on Amalgamated, regarding which the public has no official information whatever, while it continues bearish on Pennsylvania and Steel preferred. The short interest in the latter, however, must be enormous, and it displayed signs of uneasiness during the latter part of the day, when the scarcity of offerings was a conspicuous feature of the dealings. The bears are predicting 100 for Pennsylvania before the present movement is over, but conservative investors are recalling the fact that in 1893 Pennsylvania sold at 111, and again in 1896, when Bryan "invaded the east," the stock sold at 100½. The lowest price at which the stock has sold in the past 10 years was 96 in 1894. One way of measuring the difference between 1894 and 1903 is by stating that Pittsburgh bank exchanges in 1894 aggregated $652,000,000, while for 10 months of 1903 they exceeded $2,000,000,000.

A report was current in Wall street during the day that the United States Steel syndicate had completed its bond conversions, but this was evidently incorrect. There has been a very general feeling that so long as it was apparently to the interest of the syndicate to depress the price of the preferred stock and sustain the price of the bonds, no improvement could be expected in either; or at least that the market would be artificial. It is not improbable that professional traders, from whom the operations of the syndicate could not be entirely concealed, have taken advantage of the situation to also sell the preferred stock ... ... to consumption was $97,825 on November 1, against $97,378 on October 1 and $99,579 on November 1, 1902. The net alteration in wholesale prices of leading commodities during the month of October was not striking. As yet there is no evidence of any weakening in the purchasing power of the nation as a whole, although in some sections there is an increasing number of unemployed, which in time cannot fail to affect the demand for commodities. An unusual degree of irregularity is seen in the month's fluctuations of prices in leading staples. As to meats there is a general movement downward, which has continued with scarcely any interruption since the summer of 1902, when prices were at the top of a most sensational advance. The month's fall amounted to almost 10 per cent, and compared with the highest price last year there appears a loss of over 31 per cent. In dairy and garden products an advance of about 9 per cent occurred during October, chiefly due to the scarcity of eggs. Clothing cheapened slightly despite the recovery in raw cotton, and metals failed to show the full effect of the reaction in iron and steel because of higher prices for minor metals, petroleum and other products embraced in that class. In 12 months a fall of almost 2 per cent has occurred, although clothing and some food products advanced, notably eggs, sugar, coffee, tobacco and fish.

The Pittsburgh district is the greatest traffic center in the country. Some idea of the enormous amount of traffic produced in the Pittsburgh district may be gained from the statement that a single steel company in that district—the Carnegie Company—turns out each year more tons of freight than the entire cotton crop of the country amounts to. The entire Pittsburgh district produces about 80,000,000 tons of freight a year. The immensity of this tonnage may be seen at a glance when it is stated that this traffic is more than four times the tonnage derived from the entire wheat crop of the United States. An average crop of wheat of 600,000,000 bushels a year ... [illegible]

... As a result of the late covering movement St. Paul recovered all of its loss and the most prominent active stocks gained between 1 and 2 per cent.

Reports that the railroads would concede a reduction on export rates for steel products may have strengthened the United States Steel preferred.

The work [of] grading the old Walker property has [be]en completed, and the fact that near[l]y one-half the plan has been disposed [o]f since August 1 shows the popularity of this section of Allegheny as a de[s]irable residence district.

Houses Traded at $25,000.

It develops that S. H. Lloyd was the [b]uyer of the Coll & Totten frontage in Herberton avenue, extending from Well[e]sley avenue to Stewart street, Nine[t]eenth ward, the sale of which was re[p]orted in The Gazette Thursday. In [e]xchange for the frontage Mr. Lloyd [t]endered five eight-room brick houses [o]n lots 25x93 feet on the south side of Monticello street, near Homewood ave[n]ue, Twenty-first ward. The houses [w]ere built by Thomas M. Hughes two [y]ears ago and rent for $35 each per [m]onth. They were put into the deal [a]t $25,000.

William L. Curry, an official of the National [T]ube Company at McKeesport, turns out to be [th]e buyer of the John M. Bruce property in the [T]wenty-second ward, mention of whose sale [wa]s made in The Gazette several days ago. The property is in two parcels, one 238x300 [fe]et at the southwest corner of Wilkins avenue, and the other 198x300 feet, at the northwest [co]rner of the same street. Part of the prop[e]rty has been an ice pond for years, but it [h]as been drained and will be leveled up as a [si]te for an apartment house. The considera[ti]on was $26,175.

Squirrel Hill Residence Sold.

Harry M. Gross has sold to Sarah C. Pettit [N]o. 5831 Bartlett street, near Murray avenue, [T]wenty-second ward, for $18,000. The resi[d]ence is one of 15 houses that Mr. Gross built [t]wo years ago and contains 14 rooms finished [i]n hardwood and having all modern conven[i]ences. The purchase was made for a home.

Through the office of George T. McDonald a [N]orth Side attorney has bought from Andrew [L]ennox a 12-room center hall brick house, [w]ith lot 40x115 feet, on the east side of [S]prague avenue, near Lincoln avenue, Belle[vu]e, for $12,000. The same broker sold for [...] F. Bradley to M. F. Becker an eight-room [fr]ame house, lot 30x110 feet, on the north side [of] Miller street, near Sheridan street, for [$]3,500. Both buyers will occupy their respec[ti]ve properties as homes.

The Ursaline academy has sold to Gulda [R]hegold its property at the northeast corner [o]f St. Clair and Hays streets, Nineteenth ward, [fo]r $9,300. The lot measures 86x107.5 feet and [i]s improved with a large two-story brick house [w]hich was used by the academy for some time [fo]r school purposes.

Gain of One Per Cent Over Country.

The report of October building in 24 leading [c]ities of the country, as compiled by the Con[s]truction News of Chicago, makes a more fa[v]orable showing than was generally supposed. [I]n spite of the labor disturbances that were [q]uite general over the country and the flurries [i]n financial circles, the month showed a gain [o]f 1 per cent over October, 1902. A total of [...],887 permits were issued in October of this year, amounting to $25,323,418, as against 7,250 permits, amounting to $25,553,138, for the corresponding month last year. Eleven cities show gains of from 8 to 120 per cent and 13 have losses ranging from 5 to 69 per cent to account for. In the order of their gains the following cities made very favorable showings: Atlanta, 120 per cent; Kansas City, 49 per cent; Brooklyn, 45 per cent; St. Paul, 43 per cent, and St. Louis, 41 per cent. The cities which showed the heaviest losses follow: Cleveland, 69 per cent; Denver, 44 per cent; San Francisco, 43 per cent; Indianapolis, 39 per cent, and Pittsburgh, 39 per cent. Allegheny made a gain of 33 per cent, keeping up her remarkable record of the year past. The report shows that the east, particularly New York, is recovering somewhat from the labor troubles of the early summer, and that the heaviest losses were sustained in cities where building was most active last year.

How Pittsburgh Realty Is Regarded.

The growth of this city and its environs in a real estate way is very ably set forth in a new work, "The Greater Pittsburgh Real Estate Reference Book," which made its appearance yesterday. The book was compiled by W. F. Smith and is an accurate and detailed record of the prominent realty transactions of Greater Pittsburgh since 1890. No city of its size in the country has shown such wonderful activity in real estate during this period as Pittsburgh, and in no city are so many energetic business men devoting their attention solely to the handling of real estate. Fortunes have been made rapidly out of the phenomenal increases in the values of property in the last few years and the story of the realty dealings is, in brief, a revelation of the marvelous growth of the city itself as measured by dollars and cents and by the magnitude of its improvements.

A special train will leave the Union station station at 7 o'clock this morning bearing 100 or more of the business associates of Frederick H. Boyles, to his funeral in New Castle. The Real Estate Trust Company, with its two score of employes, will attend in a body.

The residents of the Eleventh ward are impatiently awaiting the completion of the improvement promised for Charles street. Last spring the city bought the property necessary to extend the street from Center to Wylie avenue, and the houses along the way were torn down. The grading and paving have never been started, and it is likely that a petition will soon be presented to councils asking that this work be taken up, as it will be a marked change for the better for the pupils who attend the Thirteenth ward school at the head of Charles street in Center avenue.

Diamond alley business men are complaining vigorously because the Marshall building near Smithfield street is allowed to stand in its old position, while all the other buildings have been moved back to the new street line. Director of Public Works E. M. Bigelow explains the delay by saying that the city has no funds with which to pay for the razing and removal of the building, and as it has come into the possession of the city Marshall Bros., the owners, cannot be compelled to tear it down.

BUSINESS SITUATION IS IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say: Readjustment of wages and abnormally warm weather are not calculated to stimulate distribution of merchandise, especially wearing apparel and fuel. Several other staple lines are quiet, as is usual at this season, yet the splendid profits of agricultural communities cannot fail to put large sums of money in circulation and provide a market for commodities.

Prices of all staples were slightly higher on November 1 than a month previous, but in the past two weeks the level has fallen somewhat. Settlements of labor disputes in meat packing, lithographing and several minor industries are offset by new struggles in the building trades, street car lines and coal mines, while the cut in wages of iron workers and spinners may result in strikes. A helpful event was the resumption of work at Montana copper mines, coke ovens and western stock yards. Railway earnings for the first week of November were 4.8 per cent larger than last year.

Several significant events have occurred that indicate clearly the situation in the iron and steel industry. While furnace stocks are far in excess of all recent high points, there is some offset in the very small supplies held elsewhere, and now that quotations have fallen to a more attractive position there is reason to look for some recovery in demand. After the first shock of new prices was over the market became more active. One feature is the loss sustained by jobbers and dealers who had stocks on hand purchased above the new level, but there is more satisfaction expressed than otherwise over the lower figures, since they are calculated to stimulate activity.

In footwear the only feature is the urgency of jobbers to get quick delivery of fall contracts, resulting in heavy shipments from New England shops. Hides are steady with a firmer tone. With raw cotton stubbornly held at a high position and consumers reluctant to advance bids for finished products, it was inevitable that cost of production must come down. Hence the cut in wages at Fall River mills was not unexpected. Inquiries for cotton goods are numerous, but buyers and sellers cannot agree as to prices and little new business is closed. A slight improvement is noted in supplementary orders for woolens, without lifting the market from its dull condition, however. Prices for worsteds are very irregular and carpets for spring were opened at an advance of 5 per cent on low grades.

Failures this week numbered 283 in the United States against 241 last year and 27 in Canada, compared with 24 a year ago.

FLOUR MARKET EASY AND PRICE IS SHADED

Hay and Grain Receipts Moderate—Spring Chickens and Turkeys Are Higher.

Easier conditions prevailing in the flour situation have already borne fruit in bringing about concessions when flour is being sold, and normal quotations will likely go down by the first of the coming week, when new jobbing lists are sent out. Supplies are below normal still, but are getting better, and with a return of plenty there is almost sure to be a reduction in price, which will not likely be very extensive, but sufficient to cause buyers to wait for it as far as possible. The Northwestern Miller says mills almost generally found business lighter last week than in the week before, but all the busy turning out flour ordered during previous weeks and are working about full capacity. Buyers have held aloof to a considerable extent, and, while their holdings are said to be at low point, apparently they are waiting for lower prices before replenishing their stocks. Good milling wheat seems to be in better supply where it is needed most, and an improvement in grade is noticeable. Reports regarding the new winter wheat crop indicate that almost generally it is in excellent shape, having had just about enough moisture to insure a healthy condition during the winter months.

Sugar remains unchanged and offers no new features as yet. The lull which has hushed sugar excitement into silence for a couple of weeks may possibly be but the calm which comes before the storm, but, certain it is there has been unusual freedom from rumors for a few days. It is said that the last cut was so deep as to have checked competition which had been demoralizing the market, and the situation is now steadier. Coffee is firm, demand being good, as it always is at this time of year, and retailers are buying freely.

Yesterday's receipts of hay and grain were not large, and the market held fairly firm in nearly all lines, oats showing some weakness, which did not amount to enough to warrant a change in nominal quotations, although these figures were shaded. Millfeed is quiet, and prices are no more than holding their own. Hay is steady, with best grades selling readily.

Domestic fruits and produce are unchanged from quotations of yesterday morning, and tropical fruits are steady as quoted. Almeria grapes are coming forward in fairly large quantities, and the range of prices is widened to cover all grades, as some of the stock is in poor condition.

Live spring chickens are in better demand, and stock supplies are moderate, the result being advanced prices, which went into effect yesterday for live. Turkeys are also firmer and higher, having commenced to feel the influence of the advancing season.

Butter is steady as quoted, and cheese is firm at the recent advance. Fresh eggs are gaining strength, and prices for selects went forward a cent from the low point yesterday, the range for this grade being now 29 to 30 cents.

WHEAT, CORN AND OATS ARE HIGHER IN CHICAGO

Improved Demand and Large Export Business Caused Advance in Wheat.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—In spite of the rather bearish character of news in general an inclination was shown among local traders to buy wheat in the hope of an upturn after so long a period of depression, and a result of this improved demand a firm undertone pervaded the pit. Shorts and commission houses were fair buyers at the start, influenced to some extent by reports of smaller receipts in the northwest, and December opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 76@76⅛c. Offerings were light early in the day and further advances were made. Toward the noon hour prices eased off somewhat on heavy selling by a prominent operator, which was followed by sales from scattered sources, but the demand was sufficient to prevent any marked decline. During the latter half of the session there was a big demand for May from a house with St. Louis connections, and the strength of this delivery helped the December price. The cash business was also reported as showing an improvement, and with a good export demand the market became strong during the last half hour, with closing prices at the top. Primary receipts were 1,414,000 bushels, against 1,127,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 766 cars, which, with local receipts of 122 cars, none of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 888 cars, against 973 cars last week and 634 cars a year ago.

The situation in the corn pit was similar to that in wheat, local traders favoring the long side, in view of the recent declines, and with a fair demand from commission houses, with covering by shorts, the market showed good gains. Prospects of a break up in the present favorable weather conditions were responsible for some of the strength. Local receipts were 247 cars, with 12 of contract grade.

Oats were given over to active covering by shorts and some of yesterday's sellers were also on the buying side of the market. The selling was scattered and mostly by longs with profits. Small receipts and a fair cash demand were bull factors. With the sharp advance in other grains late in the day, oats moved upward and closed strong. Local receipts were 178 cars.

Provisions were firm under the leadership of lard, which was said to be in good demand for shipment. The hog market was weak and showed declines of from 10c to 15c, but an improved cash demand, with liberal covering by shorts, counterbalanced this bear factor. January pork closed 7½c higher at $11 62½. January lard was up 15c at $6 82½, while ribs were 10@12½c higher at $6 15@6 17½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 150 cars; corn, 235 cars; oats, 125 cars; hogs, 15,000 head.

P. & L. E. R. R. Erecting Water Softener for Terminal Station Power Plant

Work has been started on the erection of a water softener for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie terminal station. When completed it will furnish 15,000 gallons of water every hour. It is being built by the Kennicott Water Softener Company of Chicago, at a cost of about $10,000, and will be put into operation in about a month if nothing unforseen occurs to mar the progress on the work.

The officials of the company intended to erect water softeners to supply the locomotives only. The sediment in the river water is destructive to the boilers. To prolong the wear of the boilers the company had to erect ten water filters. In awarding the contract for these plants it was not considered that a plant to supply the terminal station would be necessary. The water used for the power house, which furnishes heat in the winter and cool air in the summer, for the electric light dynamos and for other uses, is pumped directly out of the river. The engineers have had considerable trouble with the boilers corroding. The water is softened with the use of lime and sodas. It is the intention to soften all water used in the station for drinking purposes. After leaving the softener it will be pumped into a filter. The water used in the plant which makes ice for the passenger coaches and the station will also pass through the softener.

Earnings of the B. & O.

Secretary C. W. Woolford of the Baltimore & Ohio system sent out a financial statement yesterday for October. It shows gross earnings of $6,022,316, which was an increase of $48,644. The net earnings were $2,296,004, an increase of $65,257. For the first four months of the fiscal year commencing July 1, the gross earnings were $23,897,876, an increase of $2,207,388. The net was $9,459,768, an increase of $945,795.

Lake Navigation Official Appointed.

The Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company and the Detroit & Buffalo Steamship Company board of directors met yesterday and created the office of general superintendent and appointed A. A. Schantz to the position. Mr. Shantz was formerly general passenger agent and lately was filling the position of passenger traffic manager. The position of general superintendent will be added to his present duties. He will now have charge of all movements of vessels, of crews and equipment, of all docks and buildings. All the officials and heads of departments will hereafter report to Mr. Schantz.

Physical Examination Order Issued.

Many of the employes of the local railroads are considerably agitated over the order just issued by the Wabash railroad requiring a physical examination of all men in the train and yard service every five years. The Wabash is the first company to issue such a mandate. Fears are expressed that the new order of the Wabash is only a starter and will be imitated by all other leading railroads. Many who are not entitled to pension will suffer if the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio issue similar orders. The Wabash has no pension fund.

Leaves Railroad Service.

J. W. Robinson has resigned as assistant claim agent of the Baltimore & Ohio in this city, and will be succeeded by Daniel McJilton. The latter has been connected with the road for some time as assistant claim agent, with no fixed territory. Mr. Robinson will enter into private business.

Railroad Notes.

R. E. McCarty, superintendent of the Panhandle, spent yesterday at Columbus on a business trip.

Sidney VanDusen, traveling passenger agent for the 'Frisco system, returned yesterday from a business trip to St. Louis.

The Baltimore & Ohio is employing more men at present than at any time during the year. Some of the section men will be suspended the first of the year.

There is a falling off of ore shipments which gives the local roads more cars for other business. It is not expected a congestion will occur this fall as was the case the last two years.

E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, is assuming charge of the arrangements for the passenger traffic expected next year on account of the St. Louis fair.

C. L. Peck, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines, and A. M. Schoyer, general superintendent of the northwest system, spent yesterday inspecting the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road.

DEEP ANXIETY IS FELT IN GERMANY

Kaiser's Subjects Fear His Life is Endangered by Cancer in the Throat.

DON'T BELIEVE THE DOCTORS

Description of Operation on Emperor Published in Frankfurter Zeitung—Cocaine Administered and Polypus Cut from Vocal Cord Without Difficulty.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The alarm of the people of this city caused by the continued rumors of the serious condition of the kaiser continues, and is strengthened by the stories which leak out from the inner court circles and which show that all the efforts of the attending surgeons are concentrated upon making the kaiser remain perfectly quiet, while the imperial patient is becoming more and more restless and is evidently worried by his condition.

In spite of all the surgeons have said, the kaiser every day receives in the sick room his ministers and generals who have to read voluminous reports to him, to which the kaiser makes his usual remarks. It has been absolutely impossible to keep him from speaking, though he is not able to raise his voice above a whisper, and this continued strain on the vocal cords is seriously delaying the healing of the wound.

The kaiser is the most impatient patient imaginable. It is now known that all doubt that the kaiser was ill was dissipated by the presence of the tumor before he met the czar of Russia in Weisbaden, but no amount of reasoning by the physicians or entreaties by his closest advisers could make him give up the idea of going to this meeting, which he considered to be of the utmost political importance. Accordingly, the physicians had to give in, which, however, they only did on the condition that the kaiser submit to the operation immediately after his return from Weisbaden.

A Suspicious Circumstance.

The fact that the kaiser has forbidden Prof. Orth, the successor to the famous Prof. Virchow, to lecture on the nature of the tumor has made a very serious impression here, and it is now admitted that it was a grave mistake not to have the lecture take place after the famous professor had publicly announced his intention of delivering it.

Kaiser William was exceedingly happy to receive the message from President [illegible]lt, who congratulated him that he [illegible]ed through the operation successfully [illegible]d he insisted on sending an immediate [an]swer to Washington.

[The] Frankfurter Zeitung prints the following details of the emperor's operation, apparently from Dr. Schmidt, who belongs to Frankfort:

> The polypus had no stem, as usually is the case, but spread itself on the edge of the left vocal cord. For this reason the operation was more complicated than with an ordinary vocal cord polypus inasmuch as it is required cutting around in order to make a stem.
>
> Cocaine took effect on the patient so excellently that Dr. Schmidt could use a laryngal knife with precision and separate the polypus from the adjacent tissue with the exception of a slight ligament. He then inserted a laryngal forceps and extracted the whole polypus at the first effort. The emperor made no disturbing motion. The bleeding was somewhat profuse but it did not require special treatment to check. As the entire left vocal cord was inflamed and reddish before the operation it will take considerable time to restore the normal condition. Such an affection of the cord is nothing unusual. It is no sign of a more serious disease.

Dr. Orth's Invention.

The result of the microscopic examination was in the hands of the emperor and his physicians six hours after the operation. This unexcelled record in rapid indurating, coloring and preparing of microscopical segments is due to a new invention of Prof. Orth, which was used for the first time and is unknown outside of the immediate circle of his medical friends. The invention is a very rapid process of indurating tissues for microscopical investigation where reasons of jurisprudence require the speediest possible determination of facts. Such examinations hitherto have required 24 hours, and often longer when the tissues to be examined were extensive and in many segments. The emperor's polypus was taken at all angles for examination.

Dr. Schmidt remains at the new palace in Potsdam to make a daily examination of the wound with a laryngoscope and sprinkle some powder on the wound. The emperor is forbidden to ride, speak or take highly seasoned foods or drinks.

REPORT FOR OCTOBER SHOWS CURTAILMENT

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—During October pig iron production in the United States, exclusive of charcoal pig, was 1,425,282 tons, compared with 1,553,717 tons in September; 1,571,126 tons in August, 1,548,184 tons in July, 1,673,-2?8 tons in June. The reduction in October pig iron was only 128,435 tons as compared with September, but this only partially shows the effect of restriction, as October had 31 days.

The decline became fully operative only toward the close of the month, when it showed a rate of nearly 80,000 tons a week. Exclusive of stocks of steel works producing their own iron, the surplus stocks on November in tons compared thus:

	July 1.	Aug. 1.	Sept. 1.	Oct. 1.	Nov. 1.
Anthracite & Coke.	234,425	311,174	365,701	450,603	539,810
Charcoal	22,585	31,289	45,305	56,245	57,589
Totals	257,010	342,463	411,006	506,848	597,399

Returns from the steel corporation, Cambria, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Lackawanna, Wheeling, Ashland, Republic, Jones & Laughlins, Bethlehem, La Belle and Colorado companies show a total product in tons by months as follows: October, 829,215; September, 956,863; August, 993,564; July, 987,855; June, 1,021,849; May, 1,037,325; April, 966,850.

The steady decrease shown plainly indicates the slow progress of the movement which culminated in the present depression. Last year the production of pig iron was 17,821,307 tons, and the present estimate of 18,000,000 tons for the year is only 178,693 tons greater. Pennsylvania has thus far produced 62 per cent of the yearly total pig iron, Ohio 15 per cent, Illinois 12 per cent and Alabama 11 per cent.

Contentedly Celebrated Their Wedding Anniversary In Lockup

Michael Cunningham, aged 50, of No. 45 McKean street, South Side, and his wife Bridget, aged 45, were confined in No. 7 police station yesterday afternoon, celebrating the 25th anniversary of their wedding. They were arrested by Policeman "Lish" Williams about 3:30 o'clock on a charge of disorderly conduct. To Inspector Kelly Mrs. Cunningham said as she sat in a comfortable chair in the matron's department:

"Mike an' me were sittin' in the kitchen talkin' over ould times. It's just 25 years today since we were married. Well, we were sittin' there, nice as you plaze, telling one another of all the good times an' the bad times we've been together, whin we began to disagree about some things that happened. Mike said a thing happened at such a time. I said it didn't, and there we were.

"Well, one word brought on another, and the first thing you knowed, Mike hit me a belt and sends me rollin' over the flure. I says to him, 'I'll have a warrant for assault on ye for this.' He says, 'Och, they wouldn't believe ye at all.' Wid that I says, 'We'll see about that,' an' I hits him a crack on the jaw.

"Then we were both pulled in by the copper an' we rode to the police station together and now we're here, both of us. I wouldn't be separated from my Mike on our silver weddin' day, not I."

With this Mrs. Cunningham rocked herself contentedly, as if she had no worries, and was in her own home with her husband by her side.

GAS TANK FULL OF CATS BLOWS UP A WORKMAN

Captive Thomas Starts Row Which Ends in Man's Being Fatally Hurt.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Thomas Goodenough is in a critical condition as a result of the explosion of the gas tank used to asphyxiate dogs and cats in the shelter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Doctors at the Harlem hospital express little hope for his recovery.

Goodenough, who drives the cat wagon, brought in a big load. The pussies were loaded in baskets and a lot at a time were loaded into the death hole. All went well enough until Goodenough brought a basket with an old black Tom who was far from ready to enter into the great beyond. The cat scratched his tormentor and clung tightly to the basket. Goodenough struggled for five minutes before the animal was dumped into the hole, then there was a loud explosion and the air was filled with cats. The horses attached to the wagon outside became frightened and ran away, and many cats awaiting execution were freed. They scampered in every direction.

NO TRACE DISCOVERED OF THE HUBBARD PARTY

Mail Steamship from Labrador Brings No News of Exploring Party.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 13.—The mail steamer which has just returned here from Labrador brings no news of the expedition to explore the interior of Labrador, headed by Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., of New York.

The settlers along the coast and inland reported to the mail ships' officers that it was their belief that every member of the expedition had perished, although no trace of their effects was found.

Mr. Hubbard, accompanied by his wife, a Creek Indian guide and a photographer, left Rigolette, Labrador, for the interior on August 1. It was Mr. Hubbard's intention to penetrate to the settlement of Nascauppes Indians, where, so far as known, no white man has ever been. The expenses of the expedition were met by Casper Whitney of this city, who desired to secure the informatoin and pictures for his publication, Outing.

THREE COURSES OPEN IN PIG IRON MARKET

Wage Cut, Better Prices or Entire Cessation of Production for a Time.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In their weekly summary of the pig iron market Rogers, Brown & Co. say:

"Demand and prices for crude iron must improve or costs come down or production cease. In one month over 4,000,000 tons has been taken off the annual rate of production of pig. Another month will probably bring the rate down near to 10,000,000 tons, or almost to where we were 13 years ago. This is half our productive capacity and far below the minimum requirements of the country today. We are, therefore, in a deadlock. The country is on strike against supposed high prices, which prices, in pig iron at least, are below cost. The cost is made up of over 90 per cent labor. The real problem, therefore, is whether the country will decide to work for less wages or pay more for its pig iron. Nothing is more certain than that it can not have the prices that marked the lean years after 1893 without taking the wages that went along with them.

"The business of the week has been halting, but with a fair volume placed. Most of it has gone to southern furnaces because of the wide disparity between their prices and those of northern makers. It is understood that restriction has commenced in Alabama, the result of necessity rather than policy."

HOFFMAN'S CLOSE CALL.

Two Bullets Went Through His Clothing—Supposed to Have Been Fired by Negro.

John Hoffman, a foreman at Schoen's steel plant in McKees Rocks, had a narrow escape from death early yesterday morning. Hoffman lives in Ross township and was returning home by way of the high bridge in Allegheny shortly before 2 o'clock in the morning. When near the end of the bridge a revolver shot rang out and a bullet tore through the collar of his coat. Another followed and, tearing through his sleeve, glanced upwards and nipped his ear. Hoffman ran to the toll house for assistance.

It is supposed one of the negroes that live in the camps in Jacks Run did the shooting. Henry Havekotte of Termon avenue, was approaching the bridge shortly before the shooting and surprised a negro in the act of trying to force the window of the toll house. The negro ran away. Hoffman arrived shortly after and it is thought the would-be thief fired at him, mistaking him for Havekotte.

Benjamin F. Badders, the keeper of the toll house, said yesterday that Jacks Run is infested with desperate negroes.

THE KIND OF SUITS THAT BOYS LIKE.

For the little fellows just graduating from [kilts] to short pants, for the school boy who wa[nts] clothes that will not be ruined by rough-and-tum[ble] play and for the somewhat older boy who is getting ready to enter the High School we carry a line of suits that are a happy compromise between a boy's desire and a mother's taste—the kind of clothing that is dressy, dashy and original, that will cause a boy to feel well-dressed without making a "holy show" of himself. Russian Blouse, Norfolk Suits, Double-breasted Suits and Three-piece Suits to meet the requirements of various ages and conditions. Prices range from $2.50 to $10.

CORRECT CLOTHES FOR BIG BOYS.

The period in a boy's life when his clothes count the most is from 14 to 20. When an idea gets hold of a boy at this time of life it takes complete possession of him. Not to look neat and natty in the eyes of girls, or to suffer by comparison with other young men of his social set is a real affliction.

Boys in their teens must have suits that are not too juvenile and not too staid. So we carry for the boy in the first stages of young manhood a special line of clothing in the smart, dressy effects—single and double-breasted sack suits for the most part, in sizes and styles to fit all ages up to 20. Prices range from $5 to $18.
